Pontiac Prison

PONTIAC, Ill. (AP) — An experimental program which allowed inmates to hold meetings was ordered scrapped Monday and spokesmen for a guards' union at Pontiac State Prison blamed Saturday's disturbance on black inmate gangs.

Meanwhile, Local 494 of the American Federation of State, County, City and Municipal Workers Union, representing 140 of the 175 guards employed at Pontiac scheduled a meeting Monday to discuss alleged leniency toward prisoners.

Thomas Turner, local secretary, said, "The black gangs definitely prevail inside the prison. It appears that all the trouble stems from the gangs." Warden Petrilli said the violence in the prison courtyard Saturday was triggered by a fight between members of rival Chicago street gangs—the Disciples and the Black P Stone nation.

Nine inmates and 10 guards were injured in the melee which involved 300 of the 993 prison inmates. Some 175 Illinois state troopers were called to Pontiac but the disturbance was ended without incident.

All those injured were reported in good condition. Petrilli said he was investigating information that some prison inmates "were sexually assaulted by other inmates."

Dock Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The chief federal mediator Monday announced negotiations in the 96-day West Coast dock strike had reached an impasse and said federal intervention was likely.

J. Curtis Counts of the Federal Mediation Service told a news conference he had notified the White House and he expected President Nixon would order striking dock workers back to work by invoking the Taft-Hartley Act.

"They have reached an impasse of such nature that the likelihood of termination of the work stoppage seems very unlikely," said Counts, who has sat in on marathon negotiations that resumed here Aug. 25.

Asked whether he expected Nixon to impose an 80-day cooling off period by a return-to-work order, he said, "It is extremely likely it will be. My feeling is that it will be invoked. You can expect an announcement from the White House on this."

Counts said that talks between the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the Pacific Maritime Association had been recessed indefinitely.

A Taft-Hartley injunction might not involve the East and Gulf coast longshore walkout which began last week, he said. Counts said although substantial progress was achieved during the past week's West Coast talks, he felt there was no point in continuing. He declined to describe the issues which blocked a settlement.

The strike, which began July 1, has idled 15,000 longshoremen and tied up some 208 ships and their crews. At issue is a dispute over off-docks handling of containers and ILWU's demands for guaranteed pay for 40 hours a week, plus a $1.60 hourly raise over the present base pay of $4.29 an hour.

Senate—Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted Monday to set the first congressional limit on U.S. spending in Laos, approving a ceiling at the budgeted level of $350 million after war critics dropped efforts for a sharp cut.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, agreed to support the limit after Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., its sponsor narrowed its application.

The limit placed in the $21-billion military procurement bill applies to economic and military aid plus Central Intelligence Agency support of both Laotian and Thai irregular forces trying to keep the small landlocked Indochinese country from falling to North Vietnam.

It excludes all U.S. bombing activities—attack in a around the Communists' Ho Chi Minh supply trail and those in support of Laotian forces in the Plain of Jars and in Northern Laos.

Approval was by a roll-call vote of 67 to 11 with opposition coming from a handful of war opponents who considered it could be interpreted as an authorization for U.S. action in Laos and from administration backers opposing any restrictions.

Symington proposed originally a spending limit of $200 million excluding only the bombing around the Ho Chi Minh trail.

After a series of conferences, Symington agreed to raise the limit to $350 million and omit any ban on the $143 million budgeted for bombing in Northern Laos.

Rogers Speaks To U.N.

Seat For Red China Urged

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers urged the United Nations Monday to seat Communist China but said that to expel Nationalist China would be "perilous" for the future of other U.N. members.

In a broad policy speech to the 130-nation General Assembly, Rogers also offered Egypt and Israel the continued help of the United States in expediting a six-point interim agreement to reopen the Suez Canal as a step toward an over-all settlement.

Later, Foreign Minister Abba Eban of Israel told reporters there were "points of convergence" between Israel's position and some ideas Rogers put forth. But Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad accused Rogers of making "vague proposals" and so "contributing to confusion."

Rogers opposed the pending Soviet proposal for a world disarmament conference outside the United Nations. He said such schemes are likely "to generate many words and few results."

But he called for going beyond "coexistence" to "cooperation" between the United States and the Soviet Union.

He said that in their strategic arms limitation talks recessed recently in Helsinki, the two were "closer together on the concepts and details of an agreement to limit antiballistic missile systems" and were agreed that when the talks resume in Vienna, Austria, next month, "discussions in greater detail will be undertaken on the limitation of offensive weapons."

Rogers called on East Germany to agree with West Germany for "unrestricted transit traffic" between West Berlin and West Germany, as provided in a Big Four understanding. He said a final Berlin agreement, effectively implemented, would "make more realistic the prospects of a European conference with United States and Canadian participation."

Rogers said the assembly "must choose an outstanding successor" to Secretary-General U Thant, retiring at the end of this year. He said that, "given adequate assurances of adequate contributions by others, the United States will assist toward an over-all solution" of the United Nations' money shortage.

He also said the United States:

—Is "not adopting a policy of economic system which meets present-day conditions" and encourages "the flow of goods and capital across borders."

—Is making "an orderly military withdrawal from Vietnam" and continuing economic aid to the region.

—Is working for "an effective political settlement" in East Pakistan and an expanded international aid program "to avert famine and create conditions to encourage the return of East Pakistan refugees from India."

In a long argument for the U.S. proposals on China, Rogers said there was "wide-spread agreement" that Communist China should be seated in the assembly and become a permanent member of the Security Council.

He declared that for the assembly to expel Nationalist China would mean "expelling 14 million people from its councils" and making it the first assembly in history to "expel a member."

"The path of expulsion is perilous," Rogers said. "To open it for one would be to open it for many."

Rogers said a pending "dual representation" resolution from the United States and 16 other countries to have both Peking and Taipei in the assembly and Peking on the council is realistic because it meant all Chinese would be "represented by those who actually govern them."

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.: Would-be hijacker George Mallory Giffe Jr., (left) apparently shot and killed himself after shooting his wife Sue (right), and Brent Quentin Downs, the pilot of a light plane that he tried to hijack to the Bahamas early Monday. Federal agents shot the tires from the plane when it stopped to refuel. The copilot Randall Crump and Bobby Wayne Wallace, who was with Giffe, were not injured. (UPI Telephoto)

Hijack Try Results In Murders, Suicide

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Posing as a doctor with a patient, hulked George Giffe Jr. dragged his screaming young wife aboard a private plane in Nashville, Tenn., Monday. He forced the pilot to fly to Jacksonville. Then Giffe killed his wife, the pilot and himself when cornered by the FBI.

Police in Nashville said the couple broke up a week ago. They had a 21-month-old daughter.

The Tennessee real estate man leased the plush twin-engine aircraft, saying he was a doctor and that his wife needed treatment in Miami.

Asked for medical credentials when he prepared to board the plane, the 300-pound Giffe pulled a 10-shot 45-caliber automatic and ordered the pilot to take off. Also aboard were a friend of Giffe, later identified as Bobby Wayne Wallace, and the copilot, Randall Crump.

Once airborne, Giffe ordered the pilot to head for the Bahamas, but Brant Q. Downs, 29, apparently convinced the estranged husband that a refueling stop was required.

When the plane landed at Jacksonville International Airport, waiting FBI agents shot out two tires and an engine. Shots erupted from inside the cabin, agents said.

Agents rushed the plane and found Susan Giffe, 25, and (Turn To Page 5)

Laborites Take Stand Against Market Entry

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — Britain's opposition Laborites voted overwhelmingly Monday to resist the country's entry into the European Common Market on existing terms and demanded that the issue be tested in an early national election.

The vote was carried at the party's annual convention by a margin of 5,073,000 to 1,032,000. Delegates representing rank-and-file party branches and the country's big labor unions are empowered at the convention to vote in the names of their members.

The party took its anti-Common Market stand after hearing one of its leaders, James Callaghan, serve notice that a future Labor government will seek to renegotiate terms accepted by Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government in four key sectors.

These relate to high food prices, the right to buy food outside the Common Market area without incurring penalties, the financial contribution Britain has agreed to make and plans for developing Britain's depressed regions.

Callaghan went further in reserving a future Labor government's right to seek better terms and understandings than those the Heath government has obtained from the six-nation Continental grouping.

Speaking of Heath's undertaking ultimately to join the Europeans in an economic and monetary union, he said: "Mr. Heath should be warned not to take us far beyond that road before a general election is held. For it involves locking exchange rates in Europe together... And if that means central decisions taken by a Brussels bureaucracy which is effectively responsible to no one, then we say 'no.'"

"Certainly the British people have never been asked whether this is what they want," he added.

False Report Turned In By Henderson On My Lai

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. Oran K. Henderson turned in a false report on the My Lai massacre after being given a direct order to investigate atrocity allegations, a battalion leader at My Lai testified Monday.

Lt. Col. John Holladay said that the investigation order was given by Brig. Gen. George Young Jr., then the assistant commander of the Americal Division. He said the order was issued two days after the March 16, 1968, My Lai operation.

Holladay said he was later shown a report by Henderson which did not respond to reports of indiscriminate killing

Henderson received at the meeting culminating in Young's order.

"I felt that the report was in error," Holladay told the prosecutor, Maj. Carroll J. Tichenor. Q. In what regard?

A. That it didn't tell the truth.

The witness, now stationed in Los Angeles, said the report told of 20 civilians accidentally killed by artillery and helicopter gunfire during the operation directed by troops in Henderson's 11th Brigade.

Holladay, who commanded the aviation battalion supporting the My Lai assault, said he was informed the night of March 16 that his aviators had seen more than 100 civilian bodies at the Vietnamese hamlet.

Holladay said he was certain that figure was given to Henderson two days later at the meeting with Young and two other officers.

Admitted into evidence at Henderson's trial has been a letter the defendant wrote to his division commander April 24, 1968, telling of 20 civilians inadvertently being killed during the slaying of 128 Viet Cong at My Lai.

Holladay said he could not be sure the April 24 letter to then Maj. Gen. Samuel Koster was the same document he saw at division headquarters sometime after the operation.

Thieu Pleased With Election

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu claimed Monday his overwhelming majority in re-election was a defeat for communism in South Vietnam and a victory for democracy.

But charges of fraud mounted as swiftly as results were posted in Sunday's uncontested balloting.

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Duong Van Minh, who at first challenged Thieu but withdrew, remained silent. They had charged that the election was rigged from the start of the campaign.

The State Department's first reaction, voiced by spokesman Charles W. Bray III in Washington, was that "we are pleased so many voted in Vietnam despite efforts to disrupt the election." This was a reference to enemy terrorist attacks.

The Vietnamese National Election Center gave Thieu 91.5 per cent of the ballots cast. His press secretary estimated the vote against Thieu at 5.5 per cent. No accounting was given for the other 3 per cent.

The result was far in excess of the 50 per cent of votes cast that Thieu had said he would regard as a minimum "vote of confidence" to remain in office.

In a radio and television statement described as his "first impressions" of the voting, the president noted that among South Vietnam's nearly 7.2 million registered voters, 6.3 million—a record 83.7 per cent—had turned out.

He said this showed the people believed the election had a "decisive significance," had demonstrated their determination to abide by the constitution and voted despite enemy terrorism and their acts.

"The Communists have failed completely in their plans to destroy the election, plans which they had prepared for over one year," the statement said.

It quoted Thieu as saying, "This is really a very good achievement of our nation and our people in the building and implementing of democracy. Nobody can deny this and the Communists and their lackeys can no longer distort."

The final results were tabulated from 44 provinces, 11 cities and among soldiers in Cambodia.

Shelling Increase Prior To Election

SAIGON (AP) — A tank-led South Vietnamese force launched a third attempt Monday to reach a besieged artillery base inside Cambodia and ran into North Vietnamese resistance as it neared the shell-battered outpost.

The outpost, Fire Base Alpha, is 3½ miles east of the rubber plantation town of Krok.

It has been under North Vietnamese siege for the nine days since Communist-led troops opened an offensive on both sides of the Cambodian-Vietnam border, 60 to 90 miles northwest of Saigon.

The action is centered in the Krok area, seven miles inside Cambodia, but fresh North Vietnamese shelling also were reported on the Vietnamese side of the frontier in Northern Tay Ninh Province.

The new drive was launched by an 800-man task force, spearheaded by two armored units.

Reports from the field said the force was engaged by the North Vietnamese when it reached within a mile and a half of the fire base.

In support of Saigon forces in the Krok area, U.S. B52 bombers pounded enemy positions and were joined by smaller South Vietnamese tactical bombers.

The South Vietnamese command reported Alpha was hit Monday morning by a mixed barrage of 100 rockets and mortar rounds but described casualties as "very light."

In South Vietnam, the Saigon command reported 92 enemy shelling and other attacks across the country in the 24 hours up to daybreak Monday.

This was the highest number of enemy-initiated incidents in a single day since March 31, 1970, when the number of attacks totalled 112.

The surge of 92 attacks coincided with South Vietnam's presidential election.

In other war developments, the U.S. Command reported renewed air and ground action in the demilitarized zone that separates North and South Vietnam.

The command said a North Vietnamese platoon was detected Sunday moving in the southern half of the zone and U.S. artillery opened up on it, killing 14 of the estimated 30 enemy.

The command also said the B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese positions.

The command also announced the withdrawal from combat of seven U.S. Army units totalling 3,215 men in preparation for redeployment soon from South Vietnam. The units included the battalion that figured in My Lai in March 1968.

The stand-down was the third highest such move in a single day announced by the U.S. Command since American withdrawal began in mid-1969.

The highest one-day stand-down, 8,095 men, was announced last July 1.

Worthy Successors Needed

Any Supreme Court vacancy confronts the President of the United States with intermingled opportunity and responsibility. Both of these are heightened when, as at present, two vacancies occur at the same time.

The measure of President Nixon's opportunity in replacing the late Justice Hugo L. Black and Justice John Marshall Harlan has been admirably stated by Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York, the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee. Congressman Celler has noted that, having already chosen two justices, Mr. Nixon's further obligation to name two more gives him "monumental power to influence the course of the future." This is beyond dispute, considering the Supreme Court's potent impact on American life.

The President's responsibility is made all the greater by the fact that both the men he is to replace have served for many years and with exceptional distinction. Black, a determined exponent of extending the guarantees of the Bill of Rights, was one of the most influential voices on the court during his long tenure. Harlan often found himself differing with Black—generally, for example, tending to uphold state power over assertions of individual rights—but he built a reputation as a notably logical, perceptive justice of great intellectual power.

The President has received much publicly stated advice: he has been exhorted to choose the first woman justice, to give the South some representation on the court, to preserve a measure of ideological balance, and so on. In our judgment the point of greatest importance is that those he nominates to sit where Justices Black and Harlan sat ought to be persons of undoubted stature and ability. As Justice William O. Douglas remarked not long ago, it is "the mind and heart" of a potential justice that counts. The nation will be well served if Mr. Nixon presents nominees whose qualities of mind and heart make them worthy successors of the men whose places they are to fill.

Gowan Brings Nigeria Long Way Since Biafran War

By LARRY HEINZERLING

Associated Press Writer

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — This most populous nation in black Africa, plagued by chronic ill health yet hopeful of the future, celebrated 11 years of independence Friday.

While serious problems remain, even critics agree that Maj. Gen. Yakubu "Jack" Gowon has brought Nigeria a long way since the Biafran civil war ended 20 months ago.

He has cultivated national unity in the face of lingering hostility between the Ibo of what was once secessionist Biafra and the residents of the rest of Nigeria.

"It's absolutely fantastic how the hatchet has been buried," said one diplomat. "You have to give Gen. Gowon full marks. The psychological spirit of reconciliation has gone very well indeed."

So has reconstruction and rehabilitation in war-ravaged Eastern Nigeria, where schools, hospitals and hotels are going up. Foreign relief agencies that arrived during the fighting are no longer needed.

Gowon has also sought to make this nation of 60 million a leading spokesman for black Africa.

But critics of the 36-year-old head of state wonder whether he can postpone much longer forceful action against severe problems that remain.

Even Gowon's backers point to the unchecked inflation, widespread corruption, chronic unemployment, housing shortages in the urban centers and rampant crime, which has led to controversial mass public executions of convicted armed robbers.

Others worry about the seemingly uncontrolled spending of an idle 240,000-man army—the largest in black Africa.

The economy's biggest plus is the daily production of 1.5 million barrels of oil which brings in an estimated $500 million a year.

At the Organization of African Unity summit conference in Addis Ababa earlier this year Gowon said: "We should liberate at least one colonial territory within three years."

Nigeria came down strongly against proposals by fellow African states to begin a "dialogue" with South Africa and condemned Britain for arms sales to the Pretoria government.

At home, Gowon is talking about foreign companies making more room for Nigerians at top-level posts while he is getting tough with the petroleum companies to get a bigger share of oil profits.

Nigeria has maintained good relations with the Eastern European bloc, recognized Communist China made efforts to slip out of Britain's economic hug and cozied up to France through economic and cultural agreements.

Relaxed Controls Trigger Riots

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — One of the curious facts of history is that bloody riots tend to occur at precisely those times when conditions are being improved or onerous controls loosened. Or when such changes are in the works.

This apparently is as true in prisons as in the outside world.

The great upheavals in the East European satellites came when the Russian overseers first relaxed their monstrosities controls a little.

The strongest revolts against the Inquisition came as that system moderated somewhat.

The men who rioted in Watts were, in considerable number, those who had themselves risen a notch or two and who, more often than their fellows, had moved into the privileges and the associations of the white world.

This reporter knows San Quentin. A close friend of my father was once warden and I visited that prison years ago. By reports, I know of the vast improvements that have been made. All experts classify California's penal system a leader in prison reform. Yet San Quentin was the scene of recent bloodshed.

Chief newspaper reports, the byline New York State Correction Commissioner Russell G. Oswald have been that he was doing "too much" for the prisoners. He had strong reforms in the mill, and the prisoners knew of these reforms.

This is not to say prison conditions should not be improved. Anyone who has seen penitentiaries first-hand knows changes are urgently needed.

The hideous figures on recidivism nationwide suggest that — except for quite temporarily segregating men convicted of crimes from society at large — prisons do not serve their intended purpose. There is strong evidence that too frequently they are schools for crime.

They may, in present condition, contribute to less law and order and may be harmful both to the convicted man and to the general public.

Paradoxically and unhappily, improvements may sometimes trigger riots — as the rising expectations lead inmates to want more.

It is essential that thought be given to this problem as prison improvements are made. During the very difficult reform periods and for some time after, special precautions must be taken to preserve security and the lives of the guards — and of those prisoners who need protection from iron-handed pressures, physical and emotional, of the activists.

It is clear authorities at Attica did not know the prisoner power structure.

What prisoners have the ability to influence and organize others? Who has charisma? Who combines these characteristics with an emotional willingness to risk bloodshed? And who among the prisoners has shown an ability to utilize publicity about his actions or condition to win support from outside? Who can pose as a hero-martyr?

This is the protective type of intelligence administrators must have and use while instituting changes aimed at returning prisoners to civil life with a better chance of going straight.

Edging Up On Tire Safety

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has spent a lot more time than it should have coming up with regulations on automobile tire performance under conditions of extended stress and high speed. Congress ordered three years ago that this be done. Only now has the government proposed such standards.

Even with this step taken, prompt compliance is not to be expected. The industry and the public will be allowed three months for comment. The proposed standards, perhaps with modifications, will then take effect a year hence.

The government says the delay has been caused by the difficulties of rating tread wear and traction. As things now stand, standards in these areas are still being worked out, and the hope is to have them ready to go along with the others in September, 1972.

One can sympathize with those whose task it is to come up with standards that are both effective and reasonable. Still, four years seems an excessive span between the time Congress orders a safety measure and an agency executes the order.

Braless Look Bugs Her

Dear Ann Landers: I am a young married woman (under 30), no square and certainly not a prude. I'm writing about something that has been bugging me for a long time. I realize you can't do anything about it, but I must get this off my chest.

What's with these slobos who think it's sexy and "with it" to go without a bra. I can't tell you how many times, while walking on the street with a casual friend, or my dad, or my husband, and I see coming toward us a cowl-like female, her breasts flopping around. It is embarrassing and disgusting. A person doesn't know where to look or what to say.

And this is only part of it. I work three days a week in a dress shop. You wouldn't believe the women who come in here to try on expensive dresses with no bras, and sometimes no underwear. I refuse to wait on the pigs and my boss has backed me up. Please publish this letter so it can be tacked up in every fitting room in the country. Then, instead of having to say something, the salesperson need only point to your column on the wall. Much obliged.—Hollywood

Dear Ann Landers: Here's the column and I hope it helps. But prepare yourself for a shock. Some of those sloppy broads can't read.

Dear Ann Landers: A personal family problem: Can you shed a little light on an already overheated argument? My young cousin was expecting her first baby in a few months. The family got together and furnished her nursery, complete with ornate furniture. A great deal of thought and imagination went into that project, aside from the money.

A few days ago Lila gave birth to a premature baby. He lived only a few hours. Lila is heart sick and, in my opinion, not thinking clearly. She instructed me to phone her sister-in-law and ask her to send her husband with the semi and take everything out of the nursery.

The relatives are very upset. They say they did not buy this furniture for Lila's sister-in-law. I believe they have a point. What's the best solution to this knotty problem?—Hedda in Erie

Dear Hedda: I agree with you that the young woman is not thinking clearly. In my opinion the best solution would be to put the furniture in storage. She is young, I gather from your letter, and hopefully she will yet have a baby of her own.

I have told him several times that I think we should break up and that he should marry her. He says, "No... my mind is made up."

I love him very much and everything is fine—until we run into his ex-girlfriend and then I see that look in his eyes—and in hers, too.

What do you think, Ann? Should I marry him?—The Large Q.

Engelbert Is Sound Bug

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

We knew that Engelbert Humperdinck had fans galore, but even so it was startling to see so many people, in a double line extending from the Royal Box of New York's Americana Hotel well into the lobby, to walk past a receptionist repeating into a phone that he was sold out throughout the engagement, to sit down in a room where so many tables had been crammed that the table under your elbow wasn't yours.

Humperdinck was packing in 600 persons during the early show, 650 during the late, every night, the most ever, including the two previous times Humperdinck was there. He was paid $50,000 a week, also the most ever for the club.

He included some of his million-selling hits, "Man without Love," "There Goes My Everything" and "The Last Waltz," using a Nashville-pronounced word now and then. He shed his well-tailored tuxedo jacket with the bright lining and vest to match, looking slim, trim and seductive with class. Women came forward to crouch down and take flash photographs; none took off underwear and threw it on stage, which sometimes happens. Finally, he paused at the end until a few women ran forward, then made an exit within a circle of burly men.

Later, between shows, he is trying to relax but steaming about the sound system. Twice, during the show, he had called for "more reverb," which apparently wasn't forthcoming, and more than several times the mike had emitted a mood-breaking squeal.

Humperdinck begins the interview by talking about the sound system and returns to the subject twice. He seems to be trying to force his mind to something else, but he is very upset. "They spend $5 million on a hotel and $200 on sound. They don't think of an artist's throat. It's very important that we have the right sound so that we can produce record sound."

Later, he says, "I'm a sound bug. If the sound isn't right I'm not happy. If I'm not happy I'm not relaxed. I can't do my best."

Later again, "I can sing in a large area, even outside. Your voice has someplace to go, it travels. In a small room, you hit a note and it just stops. If you have a large voice, it is heartbreaking. You can't do what you want to do."

Humperdinck has made seven LPs, for Parrot, and six have been certified gold. The new one, "Another Time, Another Place," undoubtedly will be. It and the single of the same name are climbing the best-selling charts.

There has been a single out in advance of each LP and all but one have sold more than a million.

Asked whether a string of hits makes him increasingly tense that one will fail, the singer says, "No. It is not a bit, it is not a bit. If I bring out a record that isn't going to be a hit, I say, 'That is too bad. Let's try again.'"

Humperdinck is a sex symbol, and how does he like that? "You don't title yourself a sex symbol. It's what the public thinks of you. I think it is very flattering."

The singer and his manager, Gordon Mills, choose his songs. They started him on a country approach four and a half years ago. "My first five-million seller was country, 'Release Me.' No one knows until it comes out what the public will like. Let them taste it."

"I enjoy singing country songs. They're very earthy," Humperdinck says. He and Tom Jones don't "divide the territory," though it has been written that they do, along with Mills, their mutual manager. Humperdinck says, "I've been an individual all my life, even when Tom Jones and I hadn't met. We don't try for different approaches. If I want to sing rock 'n' roll, I sing rock 'n' roll."

Humperdinck, who concluded a U.S. tour in New York, cut a live album in Las Vegas, which probably will be out before Christmas. He'll be back in this country in January. In between, there'll be more work—he's a star all over the world—and no vacations.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5

Born today, you are one whose work suffers in the absence of harmonious surroundings. You need to place yourself in such working conditions that you do not have to take part in the fighting that characterizes most places of employment. On the other hand, you must learn—and quickly, if you are to meet with the high degree of success possible for you—to go after those things you want; you must learn not to sit back and wait for life to come to you.

Mental pursuits rather than those of a physical nature are vital to your feelings of well-being, for it is the intellectual in you that takes precedence over everything else. You would be wise to remember this about yourself when it comes to choosing a mate, for it would be detrimental to your pride, your work, and your ultimate happiness were you to try to build a life with one for whom material things were paramount.

Blessed with tremendous energy, you cannot help bringing to whatever you do the great enthusiasm of one who is determined not only to succeed but to get the most from any given enterprise. It is not always easy for you to try. It is not in your nature to do otherwise.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, October 6
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Take care of all duties in morning if you would be free to take part in personal pleasures at evening. New friends offer a surprise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — The wise Scorpio will see to it that the strain of business is eased for himself and others. Don't hesitate to take time off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Enhance your own reputation today. The best behavior is that which reflects your own personal integrity.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — Use your business sense to bring you to the conclusion of a fast-paced day successfully. Cooperate with those in the know.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Take care that in the process of establishing a friendly relationship, you don't give away some trade secrets.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — Social activities may intrude upon your business time today. The wise Pisces will investigate a stranger's story thoroughly.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — Don't waste time this morning. The sooner you get down to business, the sooner you will know the kind of success you crave.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Take advantage of another's opinion with regard to plans for a change. You may be on the track at this point.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — An excellent day for sharing views with another. Communication lines appear to be open.

now as never before
CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Make whatever contacts are necessary for the completion of present projects. Don't allow fear to keep you from doing your duty.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Keep secret those things told to you in strictest confidence. Otherwise, you may find yourself without information in future.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Once your plans are really in the works and appear to be successfully operative, you can take another into your confidence.

Gonorrhea Is A Crucial Problem

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb I'll skip formalities because I forgot most of them over here, but I can still write my requests. I've just read a late issue of your column about gonorrhea being the No. 2 infection in the United States. Well, I feel it would be a great service if you would have an article explaining the symptoms, what they cause or do to your sexual organs, and what cures there are and what early detection and treatment will do.

Being in Vietnam for seven months, stationed just outside of Saigon, "The World's Sin Capital," I've seen a few cases of things and have broadened my life with knowledge I'd like for you to pass on to other young people.

Also, I feel this point should be one of the heaviest points stressed in sex education in schools. I would be very pleased if you passed my point of view along to people who are in charge of sex education in schools.

Dear Reader — Your idea of including information on venereal disease in sex education is right on target. With each freedom should go a little responsibility. The truth is that an informed public using mature judgment could wipe out venereal disease.

The main point I'd like to make is that anyone can go to his or her local health department (city or county, depending on local organizational structure) for a free examination and treatment for venereal disease. Lack of money is no barrier to medical attention for anyone.

Gonorrhea is spread by sexual activity. In the male, the inflammation causes burning and itching during urination. A discharge may soon follow. The creamy or yellow discharge and discomfort usually warns the man. The female may have no symptoms and no noticeable discharge, other than her normal amount of natural secretions. She can be infected and not realize it. In the male, the tubes to the testicle are involved and may become scarred, making him permanently sterile. The tubes in the female are similarly affected and may cause permanent sterility.

Gonorrhea can also cause arthritis, which is particularly difficult to treat.

The woman taking birth control pills is twice as easily infected on exposure to gonorrhea. The pills affect the normal acidity of the vagina, which helps to ward off germs.

Syphilis can cause an infection without any evident signs. A small sore may develop soon after exposure but it may be so small, or within the vagina, that it goes unnoticed. Untreated syphilis is the great imitator, causing problems similar to almost all diseases known. It causes heart disease, brain disease, joint disease and paralysis.

Venereal disease can often be prevented by using an old-fashioned condom. However, with sexual promiscuity the danger is always there, and particularly now with venereal disease reaching epidemic proportion — some say out of control. If you have been exposed, the wise course is to have an examination.

The high rate of V.D. and the sterility it causes may well eliminate the danger of a population explosion in the United States unless the problem is brought under control.

Memory—Life's Greatest Bargain

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the greatest bargain in life. It costs nothing, requires no upkeep, and lasts as long as you do. It can entertain and amuse you in moments dear or dearer. It is our memories indeed that decorate our days and bless our lives.

You have a good store of them yourself if you can look back and remember when—

People stayed up later to get a new station on the radio than they do now to watch the late show on television.

Folks rarely bothered to lock the front door unless they were going away on a long vacation. Automobiles and phonographs had one thing in common—they wouldn't start until they had been hand-cranked.

You could tell a girl parochial student by her fine penmanship.

A small-town druggist didn't really need to be able to decipher the doctor's prescriptions—he knew as well as the doc what medicines would be prescribed in a given situation anyway.

A good housewife always gave the family Bible a good dusting the day the minister planned to call.

A fellow knew pretty well whether his girl really cared for him by whether she took the trouble to put nuts in the homemade fudge she fixed every Saturday afternoon.

Every small town had at least two restaurants—one for the decent folk, the other for the riffraff who often shot pool during working hours.

The height of luxury was a shiny brass bed.

A doctor always stayed for a second cup of coffee in the kitchen of a home where he delivered twins.

No matter how many boys there were in the family, Santa Claus left only one sled at Christmas.

You could buy a serviceable pocket watch for one dollar. And you didn't have to pay a sales tax either.

A small boy divided the calendar into two periods—The day the circus was in town and the rest of the year.

You always felt a bit cheated when you went to the ball park, because they had the nerve to charge a dime for a nickel hot dog.

You were pretty sure the honeymoon was over for a young couple when they quit bragging about how much they had been impressed by the view at Niagara Falls.

A fellow who worked hard enough could stay married and hold down a steady job even he had dandruff and used a body deodorant only every third day.

All the kids in the gang agreed that the meanest mother was the one who made her son go out himself to a backyard tree and hack off the branch she intended to switch him with.

People didn't feel the need of being endlessly entertained. A whole family would sit on the front porch on nights having a wonderful time just laughing and talking together.

Those were the days—remember?

Oswald: "We are frequently asked if we ever open one no-trump when we hold a five-card major. Our answer is that we do any time our hand fulfills all requirements for a no-trump opening."

Jim: "Today's hand illustrates why we favor the no-trump opening when our hand meets these requirements. After South's opening no-trump, North has a classic raise to game. If West makes his normal opening lead of the fourth best heart, South proceeds to rattle off ten tricks. If West opens some other suit, the play will go more slowly; but the end result will be nine or ten tricks. In other words, three no-trump played by South is a cinch contract."

Oswald: "Let's see what happens if South opens one spade. North may elect to respond one no-trump. South will study awhile. He may pass or he may raise to two no-trump. If he raises to two no-trump, North will continue to game. East will be on lead and is quite likely to lead the jack of hearts. If he does, West will win the first five tricks and no one can make three no-trump that way."

Jim: "North may raise spades. Playing in spades, South will probably be held to nine tricks. Nine tricks are enough for game in no-trump. They aren't enough in spades."

Deputy Health Minister

An Arab Patriot In Israel

By GIL SEDAN
JERUSALEM — (NEA) — The first Arab to reach a top spot in the Israeli government has to be something special. And that is as good a capsule description as any of Abdul Aziz Zuabi, deputy minister of health and firm believer in the practicality of combining Arab and Jewish patriotism.

At 45, his appointment to the cabinet was a victory for those in Israel who have insisted that coexistence is possible despite the intermittent warfare between the two peoples for the last five decades.

"I am against patriotism that is based on hate for another nation," said Zuabi recently in his modest Jerusalem office. "I oppose the Arab federation among Egypt, Syria and Libya because the only thing that unites those countries is hatred for Israel. Patriotism means defending the rights of your people, while recognizing the rights of other people."

From the mountains of the Lower Galilee, Zuabi made his way to the Israeli parliament and to national prominence while the older generation of Arab leaders in Israel is considered "spineless," Zuabi has been known as a frank—but moderate—Arab leader.

He talks in one breath about his Arab brethren and about his country Israel. Although he considers himself an Arab patriot, Israel has sent him on three visits to the United States. On his most recent visit he told Hadassah, a Zionist women's organization, that "The people of Israel and the Arab peoples shall forever live in the Middle East — not in America, not in the Soviet Union, not in Asia or Africa — only in the Middle East."

He also cautioned the women at their national convention to "forget about peace that will be only good for the Jews, just like the Arabs should forget about peace that only suits the Arabs. Peace can be reached only by a compromise."

Born in Nazareth, Zuabi completed high school studies in Jerusalem during the British Mandate over Palestine. He worked for the British Regional Commissioner in the north of the country. As soon as Nazareth was captured by the Israelis in 1948, Zuabi joined the Israeli civil service. In 1955 he gave up civil service for political life by joining the small left-wing Mapam party.

Mapam has played a leading role in advancing the participation of Arabs in Israeli political life. The party has wanted Zuabi to join its ministry of health team for two years now. Mapam's big brother in the nation-governing coalition—Premier Golda Meir's Labor party—objected.

Ironically, one of Zuabi's chief political foes has been his cousin Seif ed-Din Zuabi, former deputy speaker of the Knesset (parliament) and an affiliate of the Labor party.

In his Knesset role, Seif ed-Din held the highest position of an Israeli Arab. Thus, an appointment of Abdul Aziz as deputy minister would have meant a political setback for Seif ed-Din—a setback clearly unacceptable to the powerful Labor party. So, it was only after Seif ed-Din had been made mayor of Nazareth, the largest Arab city in Israel, that the road was cleared.

When Abdul Aziz Zuabi talks about national coexistence, he does not think about it merely in political terms. For him it is personal. His wife is a Sabra, or native-born Israeli. She worked at the Mapam party office as a secretary, where she met Zuabi.

They hesitated before deciding on marriage because in Israel only religious authorities have the right to perform marriages. Thus a Jew cannot marry a Moslem because both religions forbid intermarriage. Eventually, however, the Arab politician and the Jewish secretary flew to Cyprus for a short civil wedding ceremony. They now have two young children who are being raised as Jews.

Zuabi is optimistic about Israel as a future home for his children. "Millions of Arabs have realized that war is not a solution. Not that they suddenly love Israel, but they simply face the political realism: Israel is a political entity that one cannot wipe off the map. Some 78,000 tourists from Arab countries have visited Israel this year. They discovered that the Israelis are humans. President Sadat and King Hussein know that too. They don't want war."

Businessmen Ready Opening Of Black Expo

CHICAGO (AP) — Black businessmen, eager to show other blacks that they can be successful in the business world, prepared today for the opening of a five-day exposition which is expected to attract 750,000 persons.

Black Expo, a showcase of exhibits from some 500 Negro firms, opens Wednesday with claims from its sponsors that it is the "largest and single most important event of its kind in the United States."

Sponsored by Operation Breadbasket of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the exposition will bring black entrepreneurs from 40 states to the International Amphitheatre.

"The companies... employ 20,000 people, have a combined payroll of nearly $90 million and annual sale volume of between $300 and $500 million," said Jesse Jackson, head of Operation Breadbasket.

Jackson said $85,000 worth of business was written at a similar gathering last year and the figure may jump past the $100,000 mark this year. Perhaps as important, however, is the psychological impact such an exhibition may have on blacks.

Black Expo will honor the late Dr. Martin Luther King and will have a basic theme of "See the Dream Come Through" a reference to King's speech made during the march on Washington in 1963.

A spokesman for Operation Breadbasket said the ultimate achievement of economic, cultural and political awareness among blacks is its overriding goal.

Among persons expected to attend workshops in conjunction with the exposition are Mayor Carl Stokes of Cleveland; Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich.; Mayor Richard G. Hatcher, of Gary, Ind.; John Johnson of the Johnson Publishing Co.; and George E. Johnson Jr., of Johnson Products.

George E. Johnson is the black businessman who channeled a $500 investment in a hair straightener 17 years ago into a company which today records more than $14 million in annual sales.

It is the third year that Operation Breadbasket has sponsored the Black Expo.

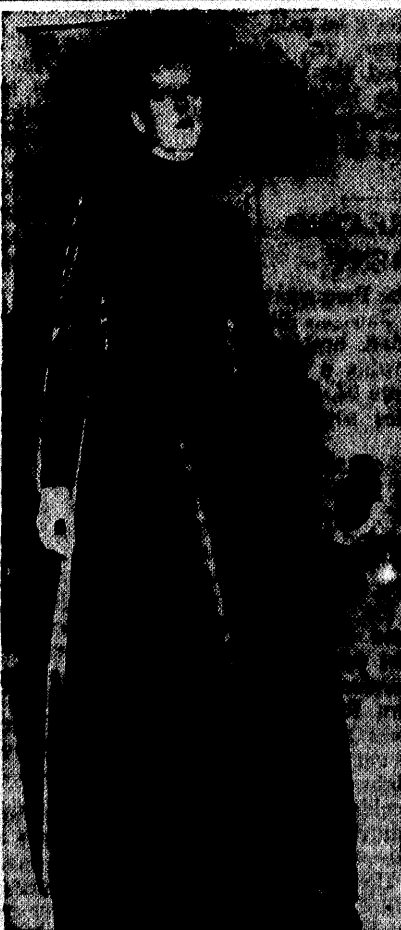

TURNABOUT SHADES

NEW YORK (UPI)—Variations of most window shade brackets are available for reverse-roll mounting. This "turning about" keeps the roller from showing roomside.

"It is particularly important for duplex shades because it conceals the street-side color from the room," says the Window Shade Manufacturers Association.

AN ARAB PATRIOT, Abdul Aziz Zuabi is also an Israeli government official (below, voting in the Knesset). He finds no contradiction in the roles, speaking in one breath of his brethren and his country.

Attica Rebellion Attributed To Chance Misunderstanding

NEW YORK (AP) — An inmate at Attica State Prison says that a guard's chance misunderstanding of the actions of two prisoners practicing football moves led directly to the bloody four-day rebellion, the New York Times reports.

Both the Times and the New York Daily News Monday published lengthy background accounts of the Attica uprising. Both accounts emphasized that confusion reigned before and during the assault that crushed the insurrection.

The News, in the first of a five-part series on the revolt, said there exists "no single objective record" of the events during the assault Sept. 12 when most of the 42 deaths at Attica occurred.

Both the Times and News told of prisoners, accused by their fellow inmates of not going along with the rebellion, being found with their throats cut.

The Times said its 10,000-word chronology of events leading up to and including the assault was pieced together from inmates, doctors, lawyers and legislators and from tapes, films, letters and notebooks.

The Times said the misunderstanding that sparked the rebellion occurred late Wednesday afternoon Sept. 8 as the prisoners gathered in the yard.

A white inmate, Ray Lamorie, said to be a coach of the prison football team, was demonstrating a lineman's moves and feints to a young black inmate, Leroy Dewer, the Times said.

At that moment, Lt. Richard Mulrooney, a prison guard, stepped into the yard and saw what he mistakenly assumed was a fight between the two, the Times said.

The paper quotes an unidentified inmate as saying that Mulrooney stepped up, put his hand on Dewer's shoulder and Dewer spun around and hit him in an apparent reflex action.

Lamorie defended Dewer, who was encircled by other inmates for protection, and the guards did not press a demand that he leave the yard, the Times said. But it added that two hours later the two inmates were summoned from their cells and rumors circulated that they had been beaten.

The following morning prisoners on the way to the mess hall burst into rebellion, overpowering five guards, then moved down a passageway to four cellblock walls in the yard, the Times said.

At Times Square the lone guard on duty, William Quinn, was unable to secure the manual gate in time and the inmates fractured his skull in two places as they subdued him, the Times said. Earlier reports had stated that Quinn's skull was fractured when he was thrown from a window.

Later, inmates with "scores to settle" sought out and beat individual guards among the hostages until leaders of the uprising set up a security force to protect hostages, the Times said.

The News account, assembled by a five-man team of reporters and the writer, Donald Singleton, said that among the many unanswered questions was whether there was ever an official order to the state troopers during the assault to open fire.

"The available evidence suggests that there was not," the News said, suggesting that one possibility was that the troopers mistook the sound of the exploding CN gas canisters for opposing fire.

The News said that electricity was turned off during the assault because prison authorities had reports that convicted bomb plotter Samuel Melville, who was to die in the assault, had electrified the gates and doorways.

One consequence was that a videotape of the assault was rendered nearly useless because the backup battery power for the camera proved to be insufficient to get a good image on the tape, the News said.

The News said that one of the inmates who died by throat-slashing, Barry Schwartz, had been caught by prisoners hiding a guard, Lt. Robert Curtis, under his bunk.

Inmates wanted him killed at once but because he was their best typist and they needed him to type their negotiating demands his life was spared for the moment, the News said. Later his throat was slashed.

The Times said that another prisoner who died with his throat cut was Kenneth Hess, who with Schwartz and another man was found guilty of treason by a kangaroo court.

Seven Guards At Stateville Disciplined

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Department of Corrections disciplined Monday seven guards on duty at Stateville Penitentiary when three inmates walked away Sept. 19, discharging two of them and suspending the others.

Harold D. Luther, assigned to the hospital desk, and Roy A. Bayne, assigned to Cell House C, were given 30 day suspensions to be followed by their discharge.

The other five guards were suspended for periods of from five to 20 days for being what Stateville Warden John Twomey called "derelict in their duty" for not following prison visitor procedures.

Five guards were exonerated. A. M. Monahan, assistant director of adult institutions for the Department of Corrections, said the guards on duty were responsible for recognizing and identifying persons leaving and entering the prison gates and for registering all visitors at the main gate and inside the prison walls.

"The standard rule in a penitentiary when an inmate is missing from an assignment is for the officers on duty to immediately report such facts to the supervising lieutenants."

"This was not done by the hospital desk officer, the Cell House C officer," he said.

The suspended guards were identified as George R. Serling, Cell House C, five days; Ballard R. Adams, Gate 2, 10 days; Sgt. Richard L. McCollum, switchboard and Gate 2, 20 days; Sgt. Carl L. Anderson, Gate 1, 20 days, and Sgt. Donald Draves, Front Gate, 15 days.

The escapees—John Holmes, a convicted murderer; George Sanders and William Bracy, each serving time for armed robbery—are still at large. They obtained street clothing from a garment store, hid it beneath their prison garb, changed in a washroom and mingled with visitors leaving the prison.

A Chicago woman has been charged with aiding their escape and another man is being sought.

BEA Vanguard Crash Probed

GHEENT, Belgium (UPI)—Doctors at the Ghent University Hospital Monday examined bodies of victims of the crash of a British European Airways (BEA) Vanguard to determine whether an explosion had sent the plane plunging to earth.

Sixty-three persons, including British, Americans, Austrians and Japanese, died when the four-engine turboprop aircraft crashed 18 miles from Ghent during a flight Saturday from London to Salzburg, Austria.

BEA said 11 Americans were aboard. It identified some of them as Miss Andrea Hullinger, an American who lived in Salzburg; Benjamin Kessel and Mrs. Phyllis Kessel, Boston; G. Castro Fernandez, Mr. and Mrs. S. Lindberg, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Moser. It did not release the names of the other Americans or give further details on hometime and addresses.

Farmers who saw the plane crash said it exploded before falling to earth. Walter Maertens, a horse breeder, said he saw part of a wing fall off. Investigators looking into the cause of the crash reported Sunday that they had found the whole tail section of the plane nearly three miles from the field where the main fuselage landed.

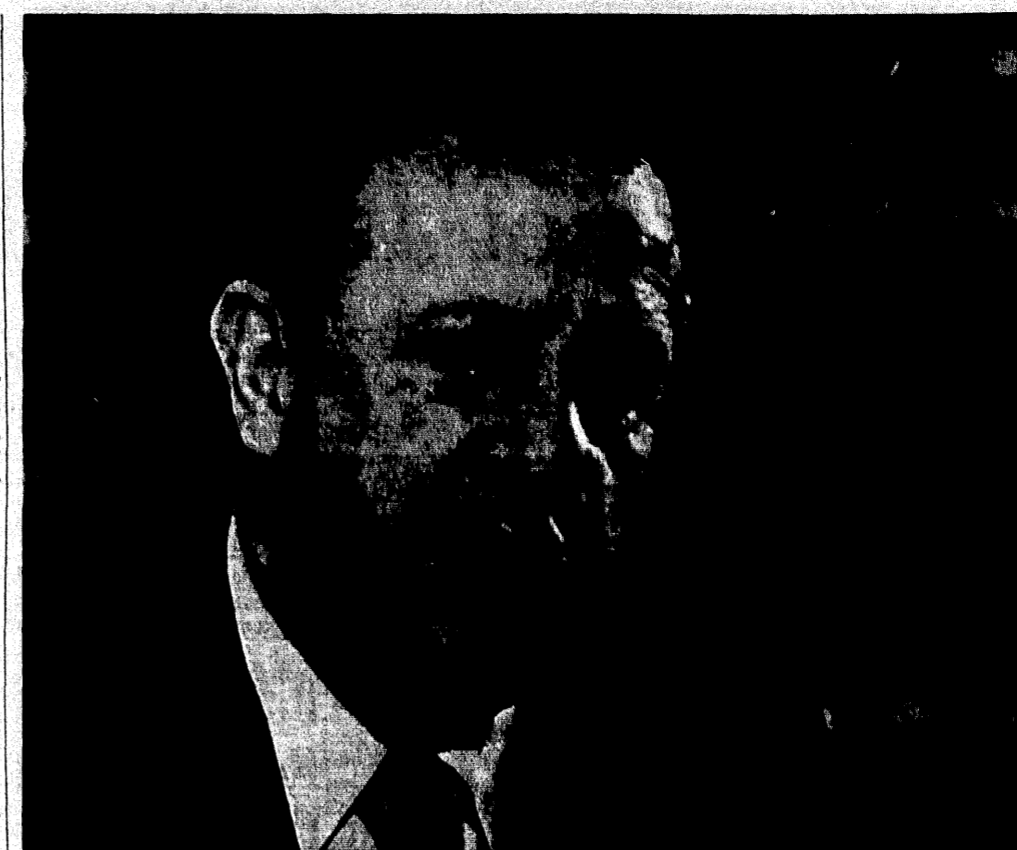

Apart from the tests at the Ghent University Hospital, investigations continued around the crash site itself and in London, where the "little black box"—the flight recorder—was undergoing detailed study.

TRUCK HITS GAS PUMP, IGNITES

JACKSONVILLE firemen extinguished a gasoline fire at United Transit Mix Co., 600 Brooklyn, after a concrete truck rolled into a gasoline pump. Firemen were called at 8:30 a.m. Monday.

The truck was not damaged, but the gasoline at the base of the pump was ignited, causing damage to the pump and surrounding area.

A booster line was used to extinguish the flames.

HUD Requests Justice Dept. Make Appeal

CHICAGO (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development asked the Department of Justice Monday to appeal a U.S. District Court order blocking distribution of $26 million in Model Cities funds to Chicago.

Mayor Richard J. Daley hinted the city also might file an appeal.

HUD Regional Administrator George Vavoulis also set a deadline of Dec. 15 for approval by the city of Chicago of 412 more public housing sites in white neighborhoods.

If the deadline is not met, Vavoulis said the city faces "permanent loss" of $20 million in federal Neighborhood Development Program funds.

The U.S. District Court order, issued Friday by Judge Richard B. Austin, noted that the city had failed to meet a Sept. 15 deadline for approval of 850 units of public housing in white neighborhoods.

Judge Austin said the Model Cities funds would be released when the city had approved a total of 700 sites in white neighborhoods. So far 228 have been approved by the City Council.

But Vavoulis said Judge Austin, in freezing the Model Cities funds, "preempted the administrative authority of HUD" to work out a public housing agreement with the city. He termed Judge Austin's ruling "premature" and said programs funded with Model Cities money "do not affect housing programs in the city."

Unlike the Neighborhood Development Program, "there is no relocation of people involved in Model Cities programs," Vavoulis said. "There is no justification in using Model Cities funds as a club on the city to get them to select public housing sites."

"I don't believe withholding funds is going to force the city to do anything. Only public interest—a public conscience—could push the city" into meeting site selection deadlines.

Chicago's Model Cities program provides jobs for 4,000 minority group members, day care and health centers, job training classes and hot breakfasts for 10,000 children daily.

On Sept. 10, the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that HUD had "perpetrated a racially discriminating housing system" in Chicago by disbursing federal funds between 1950 and 1969 for construction of housing in only black neighborhoods.

Earlier Judge Austin had found the Chicago Housing Authority guilty of discrimination and ordered the agency to construct 1,746 new units.

Vavoulis said the first 700 units and three of every four of the other 1,046 units must be built in white neighborhoods.

AREA CHAIRMEN TO MEET FRIDAY FOR U OF I DAD'S DAY

URBANA — Ira R. Bean of Streator, president of the University of Illinois Dads Association, announces county chairmen for annual Dads Day to be held Saturday, Oct. 9th on campus. This opens at 10 a.m. at the Illinois Union and is for all parents.

Friday afternoon, members of the Association will discuss activities for the year.

Chairmen appointed from the Jacksonville area are: Merlin Jones and Ellis H. Reich of Mt. Sterling; Earl Adams, Arnold Meyer, Ashland; Glen Lovemark, Arenzville; Howard Berline and Glen Clark of White Hall; Ross Manning, Roadhouse; Charles L. Cheek, Pittsfield; and Alvin Pettit, Jerseyville.

Downs dead from gunshot wounds. Giffe was fatally wounded from a shot in the temple, they reported.

Wallace and Crump were unhurt.

Wallace, 32, was charged with air piracy and held under $100,000 bond. He also faced a federal kidnap charge.

Giffe, 35, was once an instructor in biology at Peabody College in Nashville. It was there that he met Susan who held bachelor's and master's degrees in education from the college.

Mrs. Giffe, the former Susan Lakich, once talked of marrying a rich man who could "give me the life of a movie starlet," a former classmate said.

Friends said Giffe heaped luxuries on the well-traveled daughter of a career Army man.

The couple was married three years ago, but friends said she spent almost as much time with her parents as with Giffe.

Friends said Giffe frequently said he was a warlock or male witch.

Giffe's Global V Realty Co. recently went out of business, acquaintances said, and he was seeking money to go into the crushed rock business.

Agents who stormed the plane in Jacksonville said they found a small gray box which they said had been described as containing a bomb. Newsmen said military demolition experts who opened the box found no bomb. Instead, they found some personal papers and pictures of partially nude women, the newsmen said.

Road Bonds OK'd By Court

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Supreme Court today upheld the constitutionality of the $900 million highway bond issue passed by the 77th general assembly in June and ordered Secretary of State John W. Lewis to advertise for bids for sale of the bonds.

Lewis had challenged the constitutionality of the bonds under the U.S. and Illinois constitutions.

The court also ruled that the General Assembly was within constitutional limits when it passed bills before the July 1 effective date of the 1970 constitution in anticipation of their being effective under the new pact.

Lewis had contended in his challenge that bills passed before July 1 fell under the 1870 constitution.

The $900 million in bonds was to be divided into three units. Six hundred million was to be used for highway purposes, $200 million for rapid transit, rail and other mass transportation operations, and $100 million for airports.

The challenge also contended the act was not specific enough, did not set forth the manner of repayment and improperly provided for a continuing appropriation. The court ruled these arguments not valid.

SWITCH LAMPS MISSING

Two switch lamps were reported missing by Norfolk and Western authorities Monday morning to Jacksonville city police. The lamps were located at the North East street crossing and between North East and North Main. The incident happened sometime over the weekend.

Oakland Over Browns 34-20

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders exploded for 24 points in the fourth quarter behind Darley Lamonica's passing and a key interception by George Atkinson to upset the Cleveland Browns 34-20 in a nationally televised National Football League game Monday night.

The victory moved Oakland into a first place tie with Kansas City Chiefs in the Western Division of the American Football Conference. Both teams are now 2-1.

The Raiders turned the game into a rout before a sell-out crowd of 84,285 after Atkinson's interception and two costly penalties which resulted in the go-ahead touchdown.

Atkinson intercepted a Bill Nelsen pass at the 41 and returned to the 28, and a face-masking penalty against Bo Scott on the tackle put the ball on the 13. A holding penalty against Clarence Scott moved the ball to the five, and Clarence Davis ran it in for the touchdown, putting Oakland in front 24-20.

The Browns failed to move after that, and Lamonica led the Raiders to their final score on a 26-yard field goal by George Blanda and Pete Bazzazak's one-yard run after sustained drives.

The loss left Cleveland tied with Pittsburgh for first place in the AFC Central Division.

The Raiders, who went into the game with the AFC's leading ground attack, moved to ease against the Browns in the second half after being stymied in the first half.

The Browns had held Oakland to 117 total offensive yards in the first two periods, including 45 on the ground, but Cleveland held only a 14-10 halftime lead as Don Cockroft missed two field goal attempts.

Cleveland moved to the Oakland 29 in the first quarter, but in what proved to be a key decision, went for a field goal instead of trying for the first down in a fourth and inches situation. Cockroft missed the kick from the 35.

The Browns had another good drive the second time they had the ball, but two costly holding penalties resulted in them punting from their own 20.

They finally scored on a 51-yard drive set up after the Raiders muffed a 46-yard field goal attempt when holder Ken Stabler fumbled the snap from center and was tackled.

Bo Scott completed a Browns drive with a three-yard run to make it 7-0. A fumble by Bazzazak on the next play from scrimmage at the Oakland 37 resulted in Leroy Kelly running 22 yards with a screen pass for a touchdown to make it 14-0.

ORDER GOVERNMENT TO REFUND MAY DAY JAIL COLLATERAL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Only three weeks before the next scheduled antiwar demonstrations in the nation's capital, a U.S. court of appeals has ordered the government to refund collateral forfeited by many of the 12,000 persons arrested during the May Day demonstrations.

The order, issued Friday night, also told the government to take steps to insure that May Day arrest records were not circulated, even to the FBI.

The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) had brought the action on behalf of the arrested demonstrators who participated in the protests between April 28 and May 5.

The three-judge panel did not rule, however, on the broader question of whether May Day arrests and detention were illegal. Several lawsuits are pending on that issue.

The court temporarily enjoined further prosecution of an estimated 325 May Day cases remaining to be processed, pending a screening by the District of Columbia corporation counsel.

As the court was issuing its order on the May Day disorders, Rennie Davis, who was a leader of that event, was outlining plans for more antiwar protests here Oct. 22-26, including a mass civil disobedience action at the White House Oct. 26.

Davis, a spokesman for the Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice, said a peoples' grand jury would be convened to hear charges against the administration, and an "eviction notice" would be served on Nixon during the White House rally.

PROPERTY DAMAGED
City police received two reports of criminal damage to property Sunday. Officers said they found a receiver had been torn off in a telephone booth on the south side of the square. About midnight, Lester Sweeten of 307 North Clay Court reported a window broken and a screen pushed in at his residence. There was no entry according to the report.

House Upholds Presidential Delay Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's order for a $1.3-billion six-month delay in a federal pay raise was upheld by the House Monday 207 to 174. The Senate has yet to act.

A host of Southern Democrats joined Republicans in turning back a House move to make the pay raise effective Jan. 1 instead of next July 1, as Nixon ordered.

It was the first congressional vote on any of the President's emergency economic proposals, and he said a veto of his action postponing the pay raise would torpedo the whole package.

Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, plans to press for a vote in the Senate Wednesday or Thursday. Either the Senate or the House can override the President's pay-raise deferral action, without concurrence by the other chamber.

The Senate voted 65 to 4 Monday to give members of the armed forces a $381-million annual pay raise in addition to a $2.4-billion increase included in the already-enacted legislation to extend the draft.

Nixon has indirectly approved this action but Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, opposed it as inflationary. She was joined in voting against the extra raise by Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill.

The action is subject to a second Senate-House conference which is likely to take a dim view of the added increase.

Brown County Man Injured

A Brown county man was hospitalized Sunday as the result of a two-car accident one-half mile west of the 67-100 junction near Mercedosa.

Benny Bradberry, 26, of Versailles was listed in satisfactory condition Monday night. He was brought to Passavant hospital from the accident scene by the Mercedosa Rescue Squad.

Bradberry was a passenger in a car driven by 26-year-old Frank Wainman of 350 West Douglas in Jacksonville when the unit struck the rear of another westbound car while attempting to pass.

The second auto was driven by a Quincy man, 55-year-old Clarence Blicken.

Neither of the drivers was injured in the mishap. Wainman was ticketed by investigating state police for failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident. The time of the accident was listed as 2:55 a.m. Sunday.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to thank my doctor, nurses, and nurses aides for their care; also my relatives and friends for their cards, flowers, and visits while I was a surgical patient at Passavant hospital.

John Johnson

I wish to thank the doctors, nurses, aides and all personnel for the wonderful care received by my brother James (Jimmy) Moore while a patient at Norris and Passavant hospitals and the Modern Care Nursing Home. I am so grateful to our many friends, neighbors and relatives for cards, flowers, food, visits and every kindness extended to me and my family during our hour of sorrow after God called him away. May God bless each and everyone of you.

TOPS CLUB WEIGHS IN AT VERSAILLES

VERSAILLES—September 28 started a new season for the TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) club of Versailles. They will meet every Tuesday from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. with weigh-ins at 7 p.m.

The monthly queen crowning and a new contest will be held

Oct. 5. Members interested in the club's future are urged to attend.

The TOPS fall rally for this area will be held Oct. 16 at the Adams School in Quincy. The afternoon program will begin at 2:30 p.m. and the evening meal at 6:30, followed by an 8 o'clock program.

Jim Duvendach left Sept. 26 for Fort Lewis, Wash., after a thirty-five day leave and visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Duvendach and family. He was accompanied by his parents and fiancée, Miss Doris Bollin, to the St. Louis Airport. His brother, Randy, who attends Western University at Macomb, was home for the weekend.

The Social Lights, a Versailles youth group, were entertained at the Baptist church, Sept. 24, with a watermelon feast. The melons were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Colbert. A devotion on the Bible was led by LaVern Chute.

Out Of The Mouths . . . ???s

As I have always told my children, asking questions is O.K. with me just as long as I don't have to answer all of them.

What I mean to say is, I don't mind giving them my views on politics, religion, sex, work and recreation. But who doesn't agree that every rosy-cheeked child is a thorn-in-the-side when it comes to asking the unanswerable?

Every parent has a personal list. Questions I have given up answering include:

"How many packages of flower seeds will you buy from me?"

"If I sell 80,000 packets of flower and vegetable seeds, how many bicycles will I be able to win?"

"Don't you want me to get a new racing bike?"

"Have you seen my turtle?"

"Do I have to wear boots?"

"But why did I have to have so many brothers and sisters?"

"Is it tuna salad for lunch again?"

"Why do I have to live on this side of town and walk to school when all my friends get to ride the school bus?"

"Why do I have to live on this side of town and ride the school bus when all my friends get to walk to school?"

"What is this place anyway—a concentration camp?"

"Why are you crying, mother? Didn't I tell you I put the telephone bill under the flour canister?"

"Why are you crying, mother? Didn't I tell you about the worms I was keeping for biology class?"

"Why are you crying, mother? Didn't I tell you about my new jacket? How it was an accident the way the battery acid ate through it? Oh, And I didn't tell you about the sweater either, did I?"

"Why are you crying, mother? Didn't I tell you about my new jacket? How it was an accident the way the battery acid ate through it? Oh, And I didn't tell you about the sweater either, did I?"

Many Capitalize On U.S. Prisoner Of War Plight

By DICK BARNES

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The young woman seemed to be fighting back tears as she talked on the telephone about the prisoners of war in Vietnam. "Well, the publishing charge runs a total of $5, and God knows we need the help if we're ever going to get our men out of there," she said.

That appeal brought in thousands of dollars from residents of Orange County, Calif., who thought they might help the POWs by placing their names, for $5 each, in an obscure tabloid called Veterans News.

The Orange County district attorney's office closed the operation by court injunction this summer, charging it with "false, fraudulent, deceptive, or misleading" representations, and found a convicted armed robber in charge.

The incident is just one of an increasing number where self-promoters have capitalized on public sympathy for the plight of the POWs or on the tendency for families of prisoners or men missing in action to grasp at any hope.

In recent months: —A California promoter now in jail on a bad-check conviction gained the cooperation of POW-MIA family groups in California and Arizona for fund-raising activities which left one organization holding the financial bag.

—A Texas promoter lured an Atlanta POW group into gradiose plans for a benefit show, then abruptly departed town, leaving a string of unpaid bills behind him.

—A man who claims he's a lawyer and lists addresses in Idaho and Amsterdam has approached POW family groups in Miami, Norfolk, Va., and Phoenix, asking $25,000 to finance negotiations with Buddhist monks to care for prisoners in North Vietnamese camps. So far as is known, he hasn't collected a dime on his pitch.

—Four men and a woman hired teen-agers to solicit on street corners in Jackson, Miss., for the POW cause, and got out of town a stop ahead of the police after three days of collections.

As the petition-signing and letter-writing for the POWs and MIAs has mounted nationwide this year, so has the fund raising.

The State Department privately takes a dim view of most of the fund raising activities. Officials question what could be done with the money that would benefit imprisoned or missing men. The exception is the National League of Families of Prisoners and Missing, to which the government lends its tacit support as representing POW and MIA relatives.

Another group which has had some success is the Committee of Liaison, headed by Cora Weiss, in New York. Mrs. Weiss says the committee has spent $10,000 over the past 18 months. Most of the money, she said, has come from small, unsolicited donations.

Veterans News opened its Orange County operation in May. Its leader, Jack K. Armstrong, served time in jail during 1965 after pleading guilty to armed robbery. His record also lists a bad-conduct discharge from the Marines and court-martial convictions for unauthorized absence and theft of a .45 caliber pistol.

A pool of 70 telephone girls solicited funds for Veterans News and a team of runners picked up donations, said James J. Shaw, investigator for the district attorney.

The girls, each of whom used the name Kathy Johnson, told people: "What we're doing is printing a special edition of the Veterans News for the POWs. We're sending copies to every congressman, senator, as well as to President Nixon, the Pope and world leaders everywhere."

"The reason I called was to find out if we could print your name in a special edition for the POWs and also if we might be able to ask you to help us out on the printing costs."

After the district attorney's office filed its complaint in Superior Court, Veterans News agreed July 21 to quit the solicitation and to pay $1,500 to two recognized POW-MIA organizations.

The activities of promoter Al Edwards also centered partly in Orange County. Mrs. Stephen Hanson, wife of a missing Marine pilot and board member of POW-MIA International Inc., of Tustin, Calif., said Edwards came into touch with her group last February through aiding a restaurateur who sponsored a fund-raising dinner for the organization.

"Then he came in and said he wanted to help us," said Mrs. Hanson. "After the successful dinner, we had no reason to doubt him. He was going to initiate some fund-raising projects."

"He was going to revamp the organization and go national. We were going to raise millions, and he would receive 10 per cent of the proceeds from the projects he started."

"But he began to claim 10 per cent of other projects we had already started," she continued. "The volunteers and families were upset."

About this time, the neighbor of the POW wife saw Edwards by coincidence and recognized him—under a different name.

A police check showed Edwards was wanted on charges of passing bad checks. With the collaboration of POW-MIA International, Edwards was arrested in mid-April. "Except for the time, worry and trouble, we didn't lose vast sums of money," said Mrs. Hanson.

Soon after, free pending a court appearance, Edwards showed up at the Phoenix Area Families of POWs, and persuaded that organization to sign a contract for a benefit performance. The POW organization lost $750 for renting a coliseum and also used its $1,382 share of the $6,168 gross to pay other bills.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH

Australia's 1971 Christmas stamp was designed by a 24-year-old art student.

John Lee of Sydney, a graduate of Randwick Technical College, entered the Australian Post Office competition along with other students from 14 colleges. His design will be reproduced 100 million times on Australian stamps and he will receive a handsome cash prize.

Lee's winning design shows the heads of the Three Wise Men of the Christmas story depicted in a graphic modernistic style.

Printed in seven different color combinations and backgrounds, the stamp will go on sale at Australian post offices in late October.

Ghana was the host country for the World Council Meeting of the YWCA and appropriately issued a new set of four stamps honoring the event. The YWCA was founded in London in 1855 for the purpose of finding housing for the nurses returning from the Crimean War.

The four new stamps show a child care center, World Council Meeting, commercial school typing class and Building Fund Day. All the stamps are multicolored.

Topical collectors will be interested in a new four-value stamp set entitled "Bridges of the World" issued by British Honduras. Each of the stamps reproduces paintings of two unusual bridges.

The ½ cent shows the Hawksworth and Belcan bridges. The 5 cent depicts the Narrows bridge of New York and the Quebec Bridge of Canada. The 50 cent illustrates two Belize bridges. The highest value pictures the London Bridge, built in 1831, as it looked in 1871. The bridge was taken down and rebuilt at Lake Havasu City, Ariz. The other London bridge portrayed on the stamp is the bridge of 1971 in Arizona.

Full color first day covers, maxi-cards and folders, carrying the London bridge stamp and Arizona commemorative soon will be available.

Information, descriptions and prices may be obtained directly from the International Stamp Collectors Society, 509 N. Fairfax Ave., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036.

CLOTHES CARE TODAY

By RUTH E. HOWARD

Frequently the word FASHION is used interchangeably with the word STYLE, and people will say, "Isn't it stylish?" when what they really mean is "Isn't it fashionable?"

A style of clothing is considered to mean a type of product with specific characteristics which distinguish it from other type of the same product. For example, all full-skirted styles, even though they may differ in trimming, cut or fabric, have a common characteristic which makes them different from straight-skirted garments. A full-skirted style, however, can have many individual variations in materials and details of line and decoration; these are called designs. For an example, the fashion may be for full-skirted silhouettes; the most popular type or style may be pleated skirts; the individual design might be for box-pleated, pin-pleated, or pleated in other ways.

The right style can go a long way toward giving your frame the right appearance. The necklines are never stretched out of place when they are sent to HOWARD'S, 121 S. Ron Summers

Mike Bartlett

Aire Buchanan

Only three of the local football squads chose to select Players of the Week following games of last weekend.

Ron Summers, a 5-10, 190-pound sophomore half-back from Meredosia, was picked Illinois College back of the week following 21-6 loss to Iowa Wesleyan last Saturday. Summers led the offense with 90 yards in 19 carries. Mike Bartlett, a 5-11, 240-pound junior two-way tackle from Pittsfield, was picked lineman of the week for his outstanding going both ways.

Repeat Paul Kaufmann was Routt's lineman of the week on the heels of 51-0 blanking of Meredosia. Kaufmann, a senior two-way end, hauled in three scoring passes and ran in another on an end around, playing only the first half. Tom Lockman and Joe Bernardini tied in voting for back of the week, with a picture of Bernardini not available. Lockman, a 175-pound junior quarterback, threw for three scores and ran in another, while Bernardini, a 145-pound senior two-way halfback, kicked three extra points and picked up 65 yards rushing.

Aire Buchanan and Dan Fitzpatrick are ISD's picks following 58-0 loss to Calhoun Friday. Buchanan, a 156-pound junior two-way halfback, was one of the Tigers' leaders in the offensive department, while Fitzpatrick, a 216-pound sophomore two-way tackle, was one of the club's few defensive standouts.

Marichal, Briles On Line Tuesday

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nelson Briles took heat treatment on his right thigh; Juan Marichal played catch with coach Ossie Virgil; managers Danny Murtaugh and Charlie Fox sat on rocking chairs and talked with reporters.

This was all the action Monday as the Pittsburgh Pirates and San Francisco Giants rested for Tuesday's third game in the best-of-5 National League playoffs. The teams are tied 11, with the rest of the series—as many games as necessary—scheduled for Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium.

The 28-year-old Briles, a spot starter and reliever in Pittsburgh's drive to the Eastern Division championship, was Murtaugh's pitching choice in the third game.

Briles said that his right thigh stiffened during three innings of pitching last Thursday in Philadelphia.

The Pirates lost the playoff opener 4-1 with Steve Blass the starter, and won the second game Sunday 9-4 although starter Dock Ellis only lasted five innings.

The Pirates are depending in their slugging prowess for an edge over the 32-year-old Marichal, an 18-game winner this season as the Giants won the Western title on the last day of the season behind the right-hander.

Marichal, who injured a hip Sept. 26 in a collision with Cincinnati's Lee May, said he still doesn't feel 100 per cent but that the hip is okay.

San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox makes no secret of the fact that he feels the Giants have the edge because they have Marichal and right-hander Gaylord Perry.

"In any given contest it's who has the pitching," Fox said, as he rocked alongside Murtaugh in the Pittsburgh manager's office.

Fox could have a bigger pitching edge than he realizes. Murtaugh disclosed that Ellis, the Pirates' 19 game winner, has elbow trouble and may not pitch again in the playoffs, or the World Series if the Pirates should win the National League pennant.

Murtaugh has Blass slated for the fourth game Wednesday, but if it goes five he might not have Ellis to come back.

Murtaugh said Ellis has an appointment with a doctor. Ellis wasn't happy with the scheduled medical examination. "Hell, the season's almost

Powell Blasts Pair As Orioles Win 5-1

BALTIMORE (AP) — Boog Powell hammered two home runs in a four-homer Baltimore barrage off Jim "Catfish" Hunter that trumped Oakland's last remaining ace Monday and gave the defending world champion Orioles a 5-1 victory over the A's in the second game of the American League Playoffs.

The victory extended the Orioles' string of playoff triumphs to eight over three seasons, gave them a commanding 2-0 lead over the A's in this best-of-five series and left them just one victory away from their third consecutive American League championship.

The series shifts to Oakland for game No. 3 Tuesday, with Oakland Manager Dick Williams left with only 10-game winner Diego Segui to throw against the third of four Baltimore 20-game winners, Jim Palmer, after watching Vida Blue and Hunter whacked by the heavy-hitting Orioles.

Williams, who pointed out following the opening defeat he had "one ace left even though they trumped my first ace," saw Brooks Robinson and Ellie Hendricks collect homers along with Powell in a seven-hit attack.

Mike Cuellar, meanwhile, checked the A's on six hits, pitching out of several jams with the aid of a pickoff and the continued conservatism of Williams, who in the sixth inning had clean-up hitter Tommy Davis sacrifice.

The A's were able to crack through against the 34-year-old Cuellar only in the fourth on a Sal Bando double and a single by Dave Duncan despite getting the first runner on base in three other innings.

One of those occasions came in the sixth with Baltimore leading only 2-1. Reggie Jackson opened the inning for the A's with a double, and Cuellar appeared to be headed for some difficulty with the Nos. 4-5-6 hitters coming up.

But Williams, who tried a suicide squeeze that backfired in Sunday's 5-3 loss, had Davis sacrifice Jackson to third. Jackson, however, remained there as Bando grounded out to third and Angel Mangual filed to center.

That, as it turned out, was the last time the A's got a base runner on against Cuellar, who set down the last 12 men in order.

The Orioles, looking for victory No. 13 in succession after a season-ending 11-game winning streak, broke through against the 21-game winning Hunter in the second inning when Robinson tagged the first pitch to him 370 feet into the left-field bleachers.

Powell, whose two homers gave him a total of four in playoff action dating back to 1969, apparently liked what he saw of Hunter's first pitch to Robinson. He also tagged a first pitch for a homer in the third inning, a drive deep into the right-field bleachers.

After Powell's homer, Hunter retired 12 straight batters before Hendricks homered to deep right center in the seventh inning to make it 3-1. Powell then wrapped it up in the eighth, after a walk to Dave Johnson, by tagging his second homer 390 feet to right center.

The homer came on a 3-2 pitch after Powell had previously bunted foul.

The A's, meanwhile, kept at Cuellar but never could get the big hit.

In the second, Davis led off with a double but remained there as the next three batters went out in order. In the third, Dick Green led off with a bunt single and got to second on a walk, but Reggie Jackson filed out to end the inning.

In the fifth, Bert Campaneris singled with one out, but was picked off first by Cuellar. And, finally, in the sixth, Williams' strategy backfired.

A crowd of 35,003, more than 15,000 short of capacity, watched the game that had to be a bitter defeat for the A's, who came in here with a record 55 road victories and now leave with two defeats.

And their pitching is in extremely poor shape with only sore-shouldered Chuck Dobson and possibly Blue, working with two days' rest, available if Segui can turn back the Orioles at Oakland Tuesday.

That game will be nationally televised by NBC following the third game of the series between Pittsburgh and San Francisco in the National League playoffs.

The winners of the two playoffs meet in the World Series beginning in the American League city next Saturday.

UNLIKELY INJURY

Most athletic injuries are things like sprained ankles, pulled muscles or torn ligaments. But Kansas U. defensive halfback Mike Burton had a unique mishap — he was bitten by a piranha. Burton keeps the fish as a pet and it chomped off the tip of his left ring finger as he was feeding it. The bite didn't keep Burton out of action.

Coaches Corner

Routt coach Larry Pacetti, 51-4 winner over Meredosia, now 2-0: "We had an excellent game both offensively and defensively, with the offense especially impressive in the first half. We hadn't been looking that good in the first half in the first two games but Friday we started off right away. The Lockman to Kaufmann combination was very potent, and our defense had its usual fine game."

"I am very pleased with our progress to date, both offensively and defensively. For the first time we got to play on a dry field and got a chance to open up our offense. For the first third of the season I have been very pleased with our overall progress."

Illinois College coach Joe Brooks, a 21-6 loser to Iowa Wesleyan; now 1-1: "It looked as though we won everything but the game. We moved the ball on the ground and had more plays and first downs than Iowa Wesleyan, but unfortunately they had four interceptions. Each time we gave them the ball in good field position and it resulted in the big plays, like home runs in baseball. We controlled the ball on the ground but our passing attack still leaves something to be desired. "If not for the long plays our defense was outstanding again and we would have restricted their total yardage. John Wardwell played the last part of the game — quarterback and did a good job. He is coming right along."

"I thought several players played well on defense, including David Behrie and Eric VanTuyile at ends and Mike Steenbergen at nose guard. Bob Hacquet caught three passes and continues to improve his ability."

"I do know that we had nothing to be ashamed of. Our kids were not beaten physically and we came out of the game in good shape. I was proud of the way the kids played. They gave a good account of themselves."

Jacksonville High school coach Gary Spangenberg, 28-0 loser to Lanphier; now 0-2-1: "I felt we were outclassed to begin with, but I didn't think we were outclassed 38-0. We felt the kids, when they got behind 17-0 at halftime, more or less gave up for the second half. We were very disappointed in our play. We felt Lanphier would be the toughest in the conference and still feel that way even though they were beaten by Griffin. They put it all together for us."

"We weren't ready for the game for one thing. The kids were not up for the game and didn't react. Lanphier didn't do anything we did not expect. We knew where they would run and knew what defense they would play but the kids just didn't do what they were supposed to do. They were not willing to give 100 per cent and as a result we got wiped out."

"We thought our linebackers made a lot of tackles but didn't know if they were playing that well or just got the tackles because the line didn't. But I suppose they probably played as well as anyone. I was disappointed in our pass defense. We knew their patterns and thought we would be ready. I have to give a lot of credit to Lanphier. They block and tackle well and Jim Kopatz is a real double threat. We have a lot of respect for Lanphier."

Illinois School for the Deaf coach Jim Bonds, 58-0 loser to Calhoun; now 0-2: "I am just glad it's over with. It was one of the few games in which I have ever been embarrassed over," he said. "There's no sense in seeing a doctor now."

Ellis also had a few other words for the Pirates' management Monday. He rapped them as cheapakates, saying he had to pay $50 out of his own money in San Francisco to get a hotel room with a bed big enough for him. He also said the Pirates didn't hire a big enough plane for the team to travel comfortably.

"They (management) don't deserve to win the pennant; don't deserve to win the world series ... but we're going to win because we have the best team," Ellis added.

by the showing of our kids. They didn't block and they didn't tackle. I really don't know what the deal was. It was hot, but it was hot for both teams.

"I don't think we looked good either offensively or defensively. I know we're young but it didn't seem like we made any improvement. I'm not trying to take anything away from Calhoun as they had a good club, but I felt we should have looked better. Some of our kids had shown progress through the week but they didn't show it in the game."

Clan Visits Washington Wednesday

The MacMurray College soccer Highlanders will be seeking a split in St. Louis outings this Wednesday, when the Clansmen face Washington University in a 3:30 p.m. contest on the Bears' turf.

MacMurray, currently 3-1 on the year, dropped a humbling 9-1 decision to St. Louis University in its previous trip to the Gateway City. Other contests all in Indiana-Illinois Conference action, have seen the Highlanders defeat Lake Forest (7-2), Wabash (5-1) and De Pauw University (5-0).

Two St. Louis area athletes currently lead the Highlander scoring attack. They are juniors Mike Haller and Rick Roives, both of Creve Coeur and graduates of Parkway Central High School. Haller has tallied six goals and two assists, while Roives has counted for three goals and seven assists.

Freshman wing Dan Redden of Andes, New York is second in goals with five.

MacMurray will return home next Saturday to meet Earlham College in a 2 p.m. Homecoming Weekend match. MacMurray and Earlham shared the IICSC title last season.

President Calls To Congratulate Queen Of Tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon had to call three times Monday to congratulate Billie Jean King on becoming the first woman tennis player to win $100,000 in a year.

The first two times the President tried, Billie Jean, wearing a cherry red pants suit, stood by uncomfortably while the phones were jiggled.

"Nobody comes on," she said. Finally, the connection was made and Billie Jean joined other sports figures — golfer Orville Moody, Kansas City quarterback Len Dawson and the Texas football team — as well as astronauts on the moon as persons privileged to get a personal call from the White House.

"Billie Jean, I want to congratulate you," the President said in clear tones. "I'm glad to see a fellow Californian has won more than $100,000."

"It's marvelous. You remember when I saw you play about six years ago in New York?"

"Yes, Mr. President," Billie Jean replied. "It was at Piping Rock Long Island."

"That's right," the President said. "You have won many tournaments but this is your best year, don't you think?"

Billie Jean started to reply, but the President continued: "It's really been a great year and you have been very helpful in our program for physical fitness."

There was a lull. Billie Jean fidgeted. Then she turned to the telephone and asked: "Are you through?"

Afterward, the bespectacled Mrs. King, recent winner of the U.S. Open championship and three times Wimbledon champion, was asked if Nixon's call made her nervous.

"Now, not at all," she replied. "I've met him before. Besides this sort of stuff doesn't excite me. I get charged up when I get on a tennis court."

KEEPING IT CLOSE: Jim Patrick of Jacksonville captured the win in the fast six heat at Saturday night's final auto racing program at Jacksonville Speedway. Flagman is Fats Booten.

Paige: Can Now Leave Game By Front Door

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Satchel Paige sat there, his elbow on the table lined with dignitaries and his chin resting in the grip of his hand.

He listened while one speaker after another traced O' Satch's 42 years in baseball and joked about his reluctance ever to reveal his age. He was subdued and visibly shaken, possibly thinking this was all just a wild nightmare.

Satch heard Ewing Kauffman, owner of the Kansas City Royals, tell how Paige "fought adversity, fought color, fought prejudices." Kauffman then revealed that a plaque of Paige would be erected prominently in the Royals' new stadium in the Harry S. Truman sports complex.

Paige gazed out over the throng of 700 who gathered to pay tribute Sunday night to Satchel, a Negro many say was the greatest pitcher ever. His eyes faded shut during the ovations. Beside him was his wife, Lahoma. Not far away were his children, seven of them, some too young to know what adversity, color and prejudices are all about.

Paige mopped his wet forehead and chuckled lightly as 81-year-old Casey Stengel, former manager of the New York Yankees and Mets, butchered the English language with 5 or 6,000 words.

Paige listened while Bill Veeck, who gave Satch his first major league chance with Cleveland at the age of 42, told how the old pitcher made his debut by striking out three Yankees in the ninth inning on 10 pitches. Veeck described Paige as "the greatest pitcher I've ever seen."

Paige heard Buck O'Neil, a player like Satch for the old Kansas City Monarchs, say Satch was the "greatest who ever lived."

Finally, Satch strode to the microphone, and thin mist sifted from his eyes. He seemed lost for words, admitted that "it looks like my writing has done got cold."

He stood there like a statue, this Negro legend who was to hint that honors had passed him by until now except for his induction into the Baseball Hall of Fame in August.

Paige spoke briefly about his Hall of Fame induction. He was proud. "At Cooperstown," he said, "they told me I was worthy but didn't tell me what I was worthy of." He cleared his throat. "Everybody's always wanted to know my age. I told you tonight. I'd like to know if everybody's happy."

The testimonial program had a reproduction of the verification of Paige's birth record from the Mobile, Ala., Health Department. It said he was born July, 1906. That confirms he is 65.

"I revealed my age," Paige said, "because when I told people I was 50, they told me their grandpappy saw me pitch."

"I never had a night until now. I made the Hall of Fame and now I've had my night, and I feel like I can go out of baseball by the front door. I can give it up with ease."

Atlanta Offers To Put Money Aside In Freeze

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons, earlier cited in a federal suit for violating the wage-price freeze by hiking 1971 football ticket prices, volunteered Monday to deposit in a special account the funds the team receives from ticket sales during the remainder of the economic freeze.

This money will be set aside until the federal courts have decided whether an adjustment should be made on 1971 tickets sold before the President's freeze order," said a joint statement issued by the pro football team and the U.S. Justice Department.

The Justice Department on Sept. 27 charged in a federal suit that the Falcons violated the wage-price freeze by increasing upper and lower level seating costs from $6 to $7.50 and boosting club level seats from $10 to $12.50.

Team officials estimated they would be required to refund $380,000 to fans who have attended two games already played by the team and those who have made seating arrangements for the three games to be played during the remainder of the 90-day freeze.

DAVID DEBACLE Willie Davis of the Los Angeles Dodgers holds the World Series record for most errors in a game by an outfielder. He committed three errors in one game against Baltimore in the 1966 Series and all of them came in one inning, the fifth.

Pittsfield, Calhoun Top Grid Statistics

A familiar name is again atop the local and area football statistical standings, with Pittsfield, Calhoun, Routt and Beardstown, the four unbeaten in the area, the most productive yet stingiest clubs around.

Pittsfield, winner of 48 straight games and unscored upon in the last 15 outings, has the most points (86) and has allowed the fewest (0) of the 23 local and area clubs, with a winning margin of 28.6 points per outing.

Calhoun, by virtue of a 58-0 blasting of ISD in only its second game of the year Friday, has the best scoring average, 33.0, and the top winning margin, 29.0.

Routt, with 81 points scored and only 15 allowed, has a winning margin of 22.0, followed by Bluffs 18.7 and Beardstown 18.0. Greenfield is next with a lofty 15.0 average despite losing its opener, 20-0.

The points scored and allowed and the average winning or losing margin of the 23 local and area high school football teams are:

Blackman: Be Patient

CHICAGO (AP) — "We don't like losing but I'm not surprised. We had a lot of problems we knew would not be solved overnight. Be patient."

So said Bob Blackman, Illinois football coach, at the Chicago Today Quarterback Club. Blackman and Illinois Athletic Director Gene Vance were the main speakers before a capacity audience made up mostly of Illinois alumni.

Vance blamed a tough schedule and injuries for Illinois' dismal start which includes four straight losses but added "I'm impressed with the dedication of the coaching staff and the players. We will have a winning program at Illinois."

Blackman was hit with a barrage of written questions sent to the speakers table but before answering them he said "When a team has success it gets better every week. "When it is losing, it is tough to keep up the morale. I hope we can keep up team morale because the team has done many things well."

"Our kids played their hearts out against Washington and outgained them by about a hundred yards rushing. But Sonny Sixkiller is everything they said he was an more," said Blackman in reference to Saturday's 52-14 loss to Washington. It was the first time this season Illinois has scored.

Then in answering some of the questions the former Dartmouth coach said:

"Everything is relative and its not any different playing Michigan State in its stadium or playing in the Yale Bowl."

"I hope our team in the future will be made up of Illinois boys. We have 19 of 26 boys on the frosh team from Illinois."

"The Ivy League is underestimated. It does not have as much good talent as the Big Ten but there are a lot of good players. Our team to Dartmouth last year was an exceptional team. There were some second string players there who could help us here now."

"In our first four games (Michigan State, North Carolina, Southern Cal and Washington) we were out-talented and out-executed."

"Ohio State, like North Carolina, is a well disciplined team. By discipline I don't mean a player has to stand at attention and salute. A disciplined player is one who does what he is supposed to do on every play.

"We've played four very tough teams," added Blackman. "Now all we have to do is go up against Ohio State, Michigan, Purdue and Northwestern in our next four games."

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Muhammad Ali, who arrived here Monday for a four-day visit to Nigeria, said he plans to retire from boxing after his next fight with world heavyweight champion Joe Frazier. Ali predicted he would win the rematch.

Flag Football League Starts

The YMCA flag football league got underway with five games Saturday.

In grade school play Hertzberg nipped Wareco 14-8, Kiwanis got by Schmitt Chevrolet 15-4 and Rotary edged Grojean Realty 20-13.

Hertzberg got a 48-yard TD run by Tom Huot and a short plunge by Joe Henkhaus and added a safety after both conversions failed. Wareco scored on an interception by Doug Hise, with Dan Griffin passing to Ron Nimmer for the two-point conversion.

Jim Verhoef passed to Mark Mann for one TD, with the same combination working for the conversion; and Tony Stevens legged the other touchdown with Verhoef carrying to conversion for Kiwanis. Schmitt scored on a Mike Campbell to Mike Mosley pass.

Rotary had touchdown runs of six and ten yards by Rick Powell and six yards by Don Nunis, with Powell and Nunis running conversions. Grojean scored on a pass from Dennis Franklin to Mark Bruins and a 40-yard run by Mark Bob. Franklin legged the conversion.

In junior high action Wareco blanked Branstiter 12-0 and Penza Realty shut out Village Cycle Shop 23-0.

Brad Ware passed to Steve Scobie on a pair of ten-yard scores for Wareco.

Penza scored on passes of 45 and 20 yards from Pat Murphy to Chris Keller and Steve Hartz. Dan Rourke ran over one conversion and Murphy hit Mike Murphy with another. Mike Welch scored on a 46-yard pass return and Murphy tossed to Tim Rourke for a conversion.

Unable To Bunt, Powell Gets Well

BALTIMORE (AP) — Boog Powell, a possible late scratch from the starting line-up because of injured wrists, soaked two home runs as Baltimore took a 2-0 lead in the American League playoffs Monday.

The big Orioles' first baseman drove in three runs in the 5-1 victory, and the second blast came in the eighth inning after he missed an attempted bunt while trying to protect his right wrist.

Powell said Manager Earl Weaver told him before he went to bat with Dave Johnson on first: "If you can't swing the bat, lay one down."

"I was really disappointed when I didn't get the bunt down," Powell said. "But I was satisfied the way it worked out. I'm still having pain, but I don't care as long as I'm getting results."

Weaver had trainer Ralph Salvon telephone Powell at home at about 9:30 a.m., to see if he wanted to play before making out the line-up.

Powell, a 280-pounder, hurts his wrists almost every year. This year he suffered a hairline fracture of the right wrist in June, causing him to miss three weeks of action.

The right hand was struck by a pitch from Tom Timmerman late in the season, and the left wrist was hurt in another slide. Both were taped for Monday's game.

The Orioles scored all their runs on homers, with Brooks Robinson and Elrod Hendricks hitting solo shots off Jim "Catfish" Hunter to support Mike Cuellar's six-hitter.

"Hunter challenges you a lot more than other pitchers," Robinson said of the Oakland right-hander who gave up 27 homers during the regular season. "He just rears back and lets it go. He doesn't like to waste pitches either."

"I hit a fast ball up a little," Robinson said. "I think we all hit fast balls. But Boogie fooled even us, hitting homers with his sore wrists."

Perry Posts 12-2 Conference Win

PERRY — Exploding for five runs in the third inning, Perry went on to down West Pike 12-2 in a five-inning Pike County Conference tilt Monday afternoon.

Rick Curfmann was three-for-three and Doug Elledge had a pair of hits for the winners, now 10-2 overall and 7-2 in the conference with one loop game remaining.

Bad Pitches Cost Hunter In 5-1 Loss

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim "Catfish" Hunter said Monday a pitcher can't make a mistake when facing Boog Powell and the Baltimore Orioles. He said he made them.

"I tried to keep the ball inside to Boog," said Hunter after the Athletics lost 5-1 in the second game of the American League playoffs. "His first homer was a pitch that got outside and his second was low and outside."

"He usually tries to get with the pitch so you try to get it inside or low. I tried both and didn't quite get away with it."

Powell, who played with injured wrists, belted two home runs for three runs batted in while Brooks Robinson and Elrod Hendricks blasted solo homers off Hunter.

"I made some bad pitches and Baltimore hits your mistakes," said Hunter, who won 21 during the regular season. "With a lot of hitters you can get away with the mistakes; you can't do it here."

Manager Dick Williams said his A's had several opportunities to score in the early innings but did not take advantage of them.

As examples of early missed scoring opportunities, Williams cited a leadoff double by Tommy Davis in the second in which the first baseman was left stranded there. "We could have taken the lead," he said.

The Oakland manager also said he did not have Davis bunting in the sixth after Reggie Jackson had doubled.

Davis sacrificed Jackson to third but Sal Bando grounded out and Angel Mangual flied out.

Williams said his starting pitcher in Oakland Tuesday would be Diego Segui, 10-8. If the series goes to a fourth game, he will come back with Vida Blue, loser of Sunday's opener.

Sayers Will Make 1971 Debut Sunday

CHICAGO (AP) — Halfback Gale Sayers will make his 1971 debut Sunday when the Chicago Bears take on the New Orleans Saints at Soldier Field.

Sayers, a seven-year veteran who underwent knee surgery during the past off-season, ran only two plays in the final exhibition game against Denver and has seen no action in the Bears' first three games.

Coach Jim Dooley announced Monday night that Sayers is ready.

"I don't know if he'll start the game," said Dooley. "But he'll see action. As far as I'm concerned, the slower the better," said Dooley.

Sayers injured his right knee in 1968 and underwent surgery. He came back in 1969 and rushed for 1,032 yards to lead the National Football League in that department.

Ellis' Big Show Key For Packers

NEW YORK—In January, 1970, Green Bay selected Al Mathews on the second round of the annual NFL draft. Both were cornerbacks.

Mathews went to the College All Star camp and missed four weeks of training camp. Ellis remained in Green Bay's pre-season camp. When the '70 regular season began, Ellis was the Packers' starting left cornerback. Mathews had to wait until this campaign to gain a regular job.

Last Sunday, Ellis, who was a running back-receiver at Southern University, had his biggest defensive day—intercepting three Denver passes as the Packers picked off six altogether from the arm of former teammate Don Horn in a 34-13 victory over the Broncos.

In January of this year, also at the draft, the Packers engineered the trade that sent for defensive lineman Alden Roche (a Southern U. teammate of Ellis) and switched first round selection positions with the Broncos.

Last Sunday, Roche, playing tackle for the injured Mike McCoy, led the defensive charge that Packer coach Dan Devine said "had Horn throwing off balance all day."

Devine, who viewed the game from the upstairs coaching booth because of his fractured leg, also reminded that the trade moved the Packers up four spots on the first round, permitting the selection of running back John Brockington, and prompted the draft of quarterback Scott Hunter.

Brockington ripped off 85 yards, including a 52-yard touchdown gallop, against Denver.

"The interceptions gave us all the momentum we needed," said Devine. "Doug Hart's was the one that turned things around."

Denver led 3-0 and had a third-and-goal opportunity at Green Bay's 4-yard line. Horn tried a quick toss over his middle, but Hart stepped in front of intended receiver Jack Gehlke, grabbed the ball at the one and returned it 69 yards to the Broncos' 30. Five plays reaped Michaels' 44-yard three pointer.

Then Ellis pulled in the first of his three, returning the ball five yards to Denver's 46. In eight plays, Dave Hampton got four of his 86 yards on a TD burst. It was Green Bay by 34-6 in the third period, and Ellis' final two steals were more productive than productive.

"He (Horn) threw some wobbly balls, didn't he?" remarked Ellis. "That was due to the pass rush, which made our job a whole lot easier. But, even if they were wobbly, they might have been caught if we weren't there doing our jobs."

Devine admitted that the Packers "did a lot more blitzing than we had up to now—and probably more than we will again. We didn't start that way, but it was working and we stayed with a good thing."

NEW YORK (NEA) — Ancestral Scottish clans, fighting from Highland to heather, waded through blood baths. The Buchanan clan was in the red thick of it and, in a way, still is.

Lightweight champion Ken Buchanan carried on the tradition as he successfully defended his title in a unanimous 15-round decision on a muggy September night recently at Madison Square Garden. In the 11th round Ismael Laguna slashed Buchanan's left eye and opened a deep duct.

Buchanan blood spilled down the champion's face and body, swathed Laguna's white satin trunks, splattered the referee's light-gray blouse and made him appear, said one ringsider, as if he had just left a day's work in a meat packing plant. Blood dotted the notes of nearby reporters. Blood soon was swabbed onto the towel that Tom Buchanan, Ken's father, had draped about his neck in the corner.

"Blood spotted the canvas, too," reminded Tom Buchanan afterwards.

In the stands, Carol Buchanan, Ken's wife, wearing a wine-colored evening dress, cried, unconcerned that her false eyelashes might fall.

Clad in the plaid of the Buchanan clan, the champion fought gamely and uphill to victory. "That," said Tom Buchanan later, "was the Celtic blood in him." He pronounced it "Keltic."

Tom said that the Buchanan clan goes "way back, somewhere round about the 14th century. And, oh, absolutely there was mooch killings and massacres between the clans."

In 1875, said the elder Buchanan, the Buchanan Society was established, mostly for humanitarian purposes. "They do mooch good," he said. "Ken was made an honorary member, only the second one. The other was a Major Buchanan who won the Victoria Cross for the 1914-18 War."

Scottish tradition was heavy from the start of the fight, though less red in hue. A bagpipe band heralded the coming of Ken into the ring. The bandmen were replete in tall, black-furred hats with chin straps, wearing kilts, playing sweet martial music.

A marimba band had preceded the Panamanian challenger, during the fight, sometimes together. The beats of bongos and bagpipes were so mixed that Ken could hardly draw battle inspiration, he later said.

Buchanan's father, who has been in the corner for most of his son's 43 fights, had little time for music. He had a job to do as a second. Tom Buchanan wore the short, light, white smock of a barber who might have practiced the ancient art of bloodletting.

Dr. Edward Campbell, the ringside physician, said that he probably would have stopped the fight if it had not been a title contest. Tom Buchanan never considered that, saying that he left that decision to the doctor, to Ken's manager-trainer, Ed Thomas, and to Ken.

"The blood was tricklin' into my right eye and made seemin' a wee bit misty," said Ken, "but I wasn't handicapped too bad."

With the blood of his son on the towel around his neck, Tom Buchanan said, "it wasn't too pleasant, the blood. But at the time I knew I got a job to do and you can't become emotional about it."

He said his daughter-in-law was concerned about the blood, but that she is used to it. "In the gym, Ken will bleed from a nose blow or something, and Carol has to clean his training gear."

After the bout, Carol sobbed, relieved sighs. "I was sick," she said. "But he won and I cry when I'm happy, too. I cried my wedding day."

Ken's father is a short man with blond wiry hair and blond eyelashes. His forehead, punched in perpetual lines which makes him appear either worried or surprised, said that he was sad that his wife could not share in the glory.

"She died two years ago," he said. "She never lived to see Ken be champion. She went to every possible fight she could. She was a bit of a sporting type herself, like me."

The day after the fight the Buchanans planned to return to Edinburgh where they would be met by a civic reception.

Ken wore dark glasses over his enormous purplish left eye. His greatest pain, now, he said, was when he urinates because of Laguna's kidney punches.

"I'm the Little Old Wine-maker. I've been passing red burgundy wine, 1929 vintage," he said, with a thin smile.

The vintage may be a great deal older, centuries older.

TV Football: Blood, Guts Equal Glamor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Violence, virtue and virility have been popular themes that have flickered across everybody's TV screens, but nobody ever packaged 'em all in such a neat offering as does professional football, the glamor sport of the tube.

Pro football will account for about one-third of the more than $150 million that will be spent by the three major networks for TV sports entertainment in 1971.

A network producer perhaps best summed up the appeal that pro football exerts. "Pro football provides a dream world of relaxation for the guy who works all week, and probably as a kid was in the Latin Club in high school and envied the star quarterback who married the head cheerleader," he said.

Blood, guts and mud is an oversimplification that has been propounded by sports writers, sociologists and just about everyone else who ever delved deeper than anticipating a quarterback's play selection.

One thing on which they all agree: Walter Mitty missed his true medium and Don Quixote would have handled Ben Davidson about as effectively as did the windmill. Both Walter and The Don today would be dreaming their impossible dreams while watching pro football on the tube.

The zooming popularity of pro football is still a dramatic thing.

It was only about 40 years ago that the professionals earnestly got into the football act that almost exclusively belonged to the collegians. In the early 1920s franchises in the National Football League sold for as little as $50. Players were paid nickel-and-dime salaries in comparison to what players now earn. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle recently estimated that today's average NFL player pays taxes on about $30,000.

It was TV dollars, too, that helped establish the American Football League and eventually forced the merger with the NFL a few years ago.

Even in the years immediately following World War II, pro football was limited to the larger cities and it's probable that without TV Green Bay today would be better known for paper than the Packers.

And Sunday afternoon would be a grand time to take a nap instead of staying glued to the tube.

NEW YORK—A distraction has to be fairly drastic in order to break a pro football player's concentration in the huddle. Miami's tight end Marv Fleming found just that distraction last week during the Dolphins' victory over Buffalo.

Fleming lines up alongside Larry Csonka, the biggest running back in the Miami array, a cozziness which should provide a momentary sense of security. What shattered this illusion, though, was the manner in which Csonka was messing up Fleming's shoes—with a steady stream of blood from what proved to be his broken nose.

Csonka had little time to worry about such distractions. He and his roommate, Jim Kiick were en route to a couple of 100-yard performances, the first by any pair of running backs on one team in five years. Each eventually carried 20 times. Zonk had 103 yards, Kiick, 108.

These figures could just as easily have been turned around, according to Don Shula, the Miami head man. "They complement each other very well," said Shula, "one runs, the other blocks. Then they change roles."

The roles they played in the Miami offense last year carried the Dolphins into the AFC divisional playoffs with the best rushing record in the conference. Csonka had the second-best yardage in the AFC (874); Kiick was no. 7 (658). Only two other clubs showed two players in the top ten.

TV has escalated the salaries and stature of the game to the point where, Rozelle admits, "there now are 26 franchises, but without TV half of them would not exist and the other half would be struggling." Each NFL team receives about $1.5 million in TV revenues each year.

Team franchises that now are occasionally offered for sale—and they are few—are priced about 20 times what they were worth a decade ago.

Consider, you super sports-viewer, that 40 years ago the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants played a game attended by only 80 cash customers; just a trifle more than the number of players on the premises.

Consider that in the first 34 years of NFL history—most of it pre-TV—40 franchises failed; that once the Milwaukee team was fined for using four high school players; that in the first NFL player deal, the Bears paid $100 to Rock Island for Ed Healey, former Dartmouth tackle; that football's first professional (John Brailer) received $10 to play quarterback for the Latrobe, Pa., team before the turn of the century, and that Joe Namath received exactly 1,000 times as much to shave off his mustache for a TV commercial, just a few years ago.

It was TV dollars, too, that helped establish the American Football League and eventually forced the merger with the NFL a few years ago.

Even in the years immediately following World War II, pro football was limited to the larger cities and it's probable that without TV Green Bay today would be better known for paper than the Packers.

And Sunday afternoon would be a grand time to take a nap instead of staying glued to the tube.

Cleveland's Leroy Kelly has enjoyed twenty-two 100-yard games, thus this duo has a way to go before achieving this mark. Each has done it four times. The feeling they give, however is that if either does it, so will the other, they are that close.

Both were drafted in 1968. Zonk No. 1 out of Syracuse, famed for its running backs, Kiick No. 5 out of Wyoming. Subsequent developments proved that this could have been reversed, too.

They're roommates on the road, and complement each other in the off-hours too. Zonk does whatever talking is necessary for the two.

Kiick is a second-generation pro. His dad, George, had two seasons with the Steelers sandwiched around a long service hitch in World War II. The Bills weren't able to stop either last week but they did prove a point—Csonka is human. Marv Fleming has a pair of claret-streaked football shoes to prove it.

WINNING IS A HABIT. ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Steve Gachupin, 29, a Jemez Pueblo Indian, won the 1971 La Luz Trail run.

It was his fifth victory in the run up the west side of the Sandia Mountains. Gachupin won the 7½-mile race in a record breaking time of 1 hour, 6 minutes, 34 seconds.

Heisman Selection Wide Open

by FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

This is the time of year when so much is happening in sports that college football almost has to take a back seat. There's the World Series, pro football, the start of the National Hockey League season, basketball exhibitions and a few important thoroughbred races.

From the looks of the early college games the field for the Heisman Trophy, awarded annually to the nation's outstanding collegiate football player, is wide open. About one dozen names are being kicked about.

Among those with strong credentials are Ed Marinaro of Cornell, Sonny Sixkiller of Washington, Pat Sullivan of Auburn, Joe Ferguson of Arkansas, John Reeves of Florida, Lydell Mitchell of Penn State, Charlie Davis of Colorado and Don Lamka of Ohio State. There are many others being boosted for the annual award by New York's Downtown Athletic Club.

Marinaro, a workhorse of a ball carrier, has two strikes against him because Cornell is in the Ivy League and none of the Big Red rivals figures to rank among the nation's top teams.

However, when Marinaro took the ball 43 times for 280 yards in the opening game against Colgate, he was only 773 yards short of the NCAA rushing record of 3,867, held by Oklahoma's Steve Owens.

Marinaro has led the nation in rushing the last two years and even with a nine game schedule he seems to have his eyes set on winding up his career as a three-time leader. He may be in the Ivy League but the pro scouts are high on this powerful running back.

Sixkiller is the Cherokee quarterback who, as a sophomore last year, paced Washington to a 6-4 record following a 1-9 season. He led the nation in passing in 1970 and in his first three games this fall he showed 40 completions in 79 attempts for 789 yards and six touchdowns. He is without doubt the big man on the Pacific Coast and he still has another season (1972) ahead of him.

Sullivan is the heralded deep South quarterback who could give Auburn a Southeastern Conference title, and he has Terry Beasley, a great wide receiver, as the favorite target for his passes.

Sully was at his best in the last quarter against Tennessee when he led the Tigers on an 88-yard march for the game's only touchdown in a thrilling 10-9 victory at Knoxville.

Redskins Continue Show Of "Future"

"The future is now," said George Allen, being named head coach and general manager of the Washington Redskins last January—and he wasn't kidding.

In Allen's first season at the helm, the Redskins, perennial losers in the National Football League, are off to their fastest start since 1943.

For the first time in 28 years, they have won their first three regular season games, yet lost a triumph a 20-16 upset over the Dallas Cowboys Sunday in the Cotton Bowl.

"This should make up for the Senators' coming to Texas," said the smiling Allen, referring to the recently announced shift of Washington's baseball franchise to Dallas-Fort Worth for next season. "We had to make the folks back home proud of us."

The victory put the rejuvenated Redskins into sole possession of first place in the Eastern Division of the National Football Conference and left them as the only unbeaten club in the NFC.

In Sunday's other NFL games, Detroit held off Atlanta 41-38, Baltimore whipped New England 23-3, Minnesota overpowered Buffalo 19-0, Los Angeles dominated Chicago 17-3, Philadelphia 31-3, Kansas City 31-10, New York Jets 21-20, the New York Jets upended Miami 14-10, Green Bay topped Cincinnati 20-17, Pittsburgh defeated San Diego 21-17, and New Orleans and Houston struggled to a 13-13 tie.

Allen said the Redskins "played our game and didn't make any mistakes" against the previously unbeaten Cowboys.

Charley Harroway's 57-yard touchdown run in the first period, Bill Killmer's 50-yard TD pass to Roy Jefferson in the second quarter and second-half field goals of 25 and 32 yards by Curt Knight accounted for the Washington scoring.

Detroit defensive back Mike Weger, who scored on a 52-yard fumble return, described the Lions-Falcons game as a "free-for-all." The loss knocked Atlanta from the unbeaten ranks.

Greg Landry tossed two scoring passes for the Lions and Ron Jessie scampered 97 yards with a kickoff return for another touchdown.

Earl Morrall and Johnny Unitas combined for 19 pass completions in 24 attempts, veteran Tom Matte and rookie Don Nottingham each ran for a touchdown, Jim O'Brien kicked field goals of 41, 42 and 50 yards, and Bubba Smith led a tenacious defense in Baltimore's victory over New England.

Minnesota's pass rush was even better against Buffalo. The Vikings front four dumped Philadelphia 31-3, Kansas City 31-10, New York Jets 21-20, the New York Jets upended Miami 14-10, Green Bay topped Cincinnati 20-17, Pittsburgh defeated San Diego 21-17,

Los Angeles' victory over Chicago was its first in three games under new Coach Tommy Prothro and ended the Cinderella heroics of quarterback Kent Nix.

Nix, after replacing injured starter Jack Concannon, completed only 5 of 23 passes for 60 yards and had three interceptions against the Rams' fired-up defense. Concannon was lost indefinitely with an injured knee.

San Francisco, in handing winless Philadelphia its third lopsided loss, rolled up 510 total yards, including 308 in the air. John Brodie fired three touchdown passes for the 49ers, two to Ted Kwalick.

Middle linebacker Willie Lanier led the Kansas City defense that muffled Denver's offense. Lanier made eight unassisted tackles, assisted on two others, broke up a pass play and recovered a Broncos fumble. Jan Stenerud booted three field goals for the Chiefs and Aaron Brown scored the game's only touchdown on a 68-yard pass interception.

Fran Tarkenton scored one touchdown and passed for another, while rookie Rocky Thompson streaked 93 yards with a kickoff return for another TD, sparking the Giants' upset over St. Louis.

The Jets recovered a punt that bounced off Miami safetyman Dick Anderson with five minutes left to beat the Dolphins. Following the recovery, the Jets went 37 yards, with George Nock scoring from a two-yard touchdown.

A Cincinnati gamble that backfired with two minutes remaining enabled Green Bay to edge the Bengals. With the Packers leading 20-17, the Bengals had fourth down and two at the Green Bay seven.

Bengal Coach Paul Brown decided to go for the first down or the touchdown rather than a tying field goal. But the Packers' stopped rookie quarterback Ken Anderson at the line of scrimmage.

Pittsburgh turned a San Diego fumble and a pass interception into touchdowns and stopped three Charger threats in the closing minutes to nip the Chargers. John Fuqua scored twice for the Steelers.

Charley Durkee, released earlier this season by Houston, got revenge by kicking a 37-yard field goal with nine seconds left, giving New Orleans its tie with the Oilers. Mark Moseley, who had lifted Houston into a 13-10 lead with a 44-yard field goal with 59 seconds remaining, missed a 60-yarder with four seconds to go.

NEW MEXICAN-U.S. PACT
MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Formation of bilateral committee to work on the text of a new Colorado River treaty between the United States and Mexico was announced in Mexico City Sunday.

The Mexican Foreign Relations Department said the committee will hold its first meeting Oct. 14 in New York City and subsequent meetings in Mexico City.

Thoroughly dominated until the bomb, St. Louis required only two series of downs in the third quarter to pull to 21-17 on another pass from Beathard to Gray, this for 60 yards.

The outcome left New York 21 in the NFL's National Conference East and St. Louis 1-2 in the same division.

THE BIG ONE: Don Carter of Hillsboro receives the checkered flag from Fats Bothen after sweeping to a sizeable margin in Saturday night's 100-lap feature race at Jacksonville Speedway. Carter, the regular season points champion, took over after two early leaders dropped out due to mechanical failures.

Standford Only Team In Top Ten To Fall

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mike McGee left Duke as an honored loser on the football field. Now he's back and possibly as an honored winner.

As a Duke senior in 1959 he won the Outland Award as the outstanding lineman in the nation but the team was only 4-6. As Duke head coach Saturday he guided the unbeaten Blue Devils to their fourth straight victory—a 9-3 upset of 10th-ranked Stanford.

"We were caught by a well coached, well prepared team. I feel badly about misjudging their ability," Stanford Coach John Ralston said after Ernie Jackson of 19th-ranked Duke ran 54 yards with an intercepted pass for the touchdown that sent the Indians their first loss after three victories.

All of the other members of The Associated Press Top Ten won: Top-ranked Nebraska rolled over Utah State 42-6, No. 2 Michigan mauled Navy 46-0, No. 3 Texas whipped Oregon 37-7, fourth-ranked Notre Dame topped Michigan State 14-2, fifth-ranked Auburn smashed Kentucky 38-5, No. 6 Colorado knocked Kansas State 31-21; No. 7 Alabama blasted Mississippi 40-6, eighth-ranked Oklahoma ripped No. 17 Southern California 33-20 and ninth-ranked Penn State edged Air Force 16-14.

All of the first nine-ranked teams are unbeaten and untied. In games involving other Second Ten teams, No. 11 Georgia drubbed Mississippi State 35-7, No. 12 Tennessee took Florida 20-13, No. 13 Arizona State beat Texas-El Paso 24-7, 14th-ranked Ohio State smashed California 35-3, 15th-ranked Washington mauled Illinois 52-14, No. 16 Louisiana State clubbed Rice 38-3, 18th-ranked Arkansas walked Texas Christian 49-15 and No. 20 North Carolina topped North Carolina State 27-7.

Nebraska rolled behind Jerry Tagge who passed for two touchdowns and scored two more on short runs.

Billy Taylor ran for 78 yards to surpass Tom Harmon by one yard as Michigan's second greatest rusher with 2,115 career yards as the Wolverines romped over Navy. Ron Johnson holds the Michigan career rushing record of 2,440 yards.

Quarterback Donnie Wigginton ran for 116 yards and one touchdown in leading Texas over Oregon State.

Bob Minnix ran for a pair of first-quarter touchdowns and then held on to win a game that led Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty to say, "This was the most officiated game I've seen in all my years of coaching."

Daugherty was upset about two offensive pass interference calls that cost Michigan State big gains and another play in which he thought Notre Dame should have been called for roughing the kicker.

Pat Sullivan passed for two touchdowns and 253 yards and Terry Beasley caught nine passes for 194 yards and one touchdown in Auburn's rout of Kentucky.

Cliff Branch, who ran a punt back for a touchdown in the upset of Ohio State, did it again and also caught a scoring pass in Colorado's victory over Kansas State.

Johnny Musso tied a Southeastern Conference record with his 31st career touchdown and rushed for 193 yards to spark Alabama's smashing of Mississippi.

Oklahoma got by Southern California on the running of Greg Pruitt who scored on dashes of 75, 38 and seven yards.

Penn State's victory over Air Force came when Alberto Vitello, a 5-foot-7 junior college transfer kicked a 22-yard field goal with four minutes left and State trailing 14-13.

Hirohito Cancels Tour Of Versailles

VERSAILES, France (UPI) — Emperor Hirohito of Japan canceled a scheduled tour of the vast Chateau de Versailles Monday, because he "is a little tired," a member of the imperial household said.

The 70-year-old emperor decided to wait in one of the salons of the palace while Empress Nagako went on the scheduled tour.

The statement contradicted others made earlier by Japanese Embassy officials who told newsmen that "the emperor is not sick and not tired."

The embassy official said the emperor decided to pass up the tour of the chateau because "he already saw Versailles during his 1921 visit, but the empress has never seen Versailles, so she is taking the tour."

Hirohito and Empress Nagako, 68, had spent a hectic morning sightseeing in Paris as part of a European tour that so far has taken them to Denmark, Belgium and France.

"The emperor must leave for England tomorrow, so he wants to rest," the embassy official said. "But he is not at all sick."

Hirohito's doctor arrived at the chateau with the emperor's party, but he did not remain in the salon where the emperor was resting. Instead, he joined the empress.

BARK WORSE THAN BITE

BOSTON (UPI)—The New England Aquarium advertised for "a lively, personal and adaptable girl," willing to work with four sea lions arriving next month. It got 300 women to respond.

Ken Nickerson, the aquarium's new trainer, explained to the prospective employees that the seals would perform in daily shows and a trainerette was needed to feed and lead the animals.

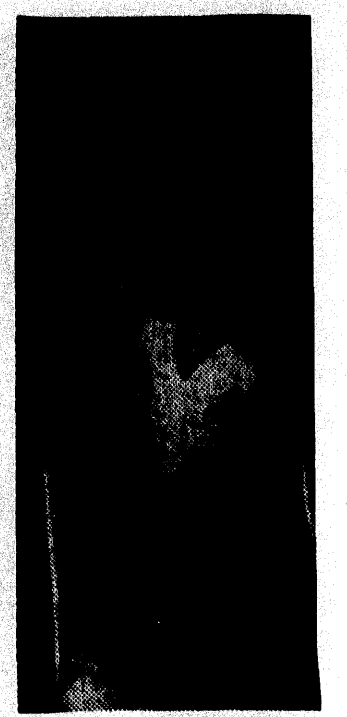

Other job requirements, Nickerson said, included knowledge of seals, fearlessness with the seals, willingness to wear a wetsuit and a desire to launch a career of working with sea animals.

"You will be working for and with the public all the time, so if you're afraid of being bitten in front of a lot of people," he said, "this is not the job for you."

Nickerson added that the sea lions and seals do not bite.

The caribou is the only species of deer in which we find both sexes with antlers.

H. E. Braswell Dies Sunday; Rites Tuesday

Howard E. Braswell, well-known self-employed trucker in the Jacksonville area until his retirement, died Sunday morning at Norris hospital. Mr. Braswell, 79 years of age, lived at 301 West Beecher avenue and prior had resided at 817 Beesley avenue.

He was born at Franklin, May 11, 1892, son of William Paton and Margaret Frances Braswell. He was married in 1910 to Edna Drury and to this union two children were born: Frances Decker, who preceded her father in death, and Wanda Lee Kimbro of Silverton, Oregon. Edna Drury Braswell preceded her husband in death Dec. 7, 1945.

The deceased was married Sept. 22, 1946, to Bonnie Toler Meadows and they became parents of one son, Emmett Eugene Braswell of Manchester. These stepchildren survive: Howard Meadows, Dundee; Hubert Meadows, Moline; and Harvey Meadows, Jacksonville. There are 16 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Mr. Braswell was the last member of his immediate family, three sisters having preceded him in death.

Mr. Braswell served with the U.S. Army during World War One. He was a member of the Franklin Christian church.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Williams Funeral Home with Rev. William J. Boston officiating. Interment will be in Jacksonville East cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the funeral home 7 to 9 this evening.

SCREENING PROGRAM FOR SICKLE CELL ANEMIA ENDORSED

CHICAGO (AP) — Proposed state legislation to require screening for sickle cell trait and sickle cell anemia during routine school and premarital physical examinations has been endorsed by the Illinois State Medical Society.

Dr. L. T. Fruin, president of the society, said Sunday nearly one of every 400 black Americans contracts the disease while about one in 10 carries the trait.

There is no cure for the disorder, which attacks red blood cells and blocks the flow of blood to local tissues, depriving the body of oxygen, he said, and it can be transmitted only through heredity.

"That's why the proposed screening examinations are so important," he said. "Prospective parents can be warned of the dangers to children yet unborn, and those who presently carry the trait can protect their health by taking the proper precautions."

Legislation has been introduced in the Illinois House by Reps. Eugene M. Barnes, D-Chicago, and J. Glenn Schneider, D-Naperville.

Business — Market Wrapup

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — The incentive for attracting brains, know-how and capital to a business is the potential for gain, usually in the form of financial profits.

It is the reward for wise investing, for efficiency in operations, for providing the goods and services that people need and are willing to buy.

It has its opposite too, because profit generally involves risk. Losses or failures are common in business life when companies become inefficient or fail to adapt their products to the market. Whatever happened to ice companies, for example.

Such a system seems fair enough when it works, but it doesn't always do so and profit, therefore, is often associated in the minds of many people with greed, sloth, privilege and misused power.

Inefficiency, the critics say, is rewarded when a company or group of companies grows so strong they can dictate to the market and even thwart the efforts of smaller companies to compete.

Useless products and services can remain profitable through smart promotions, perhaps not for years on end, but certainly for many months.

Useful goods may remain shelved because poorer products may return higher profits.

The faults do exist. And the criticisms often are justified. But, while critics have modified socially damaging methods of obtaining profits, no substitute has been found and quite likely won't be found.

Profits, therefore, apparently will remain the incentive to industrial and financial activity, not only in capitalist countries but to some degree under communism also.

In this context, some recent remarks by Treasury Secretary John B. Connally have pointed significance to present conditions, specifically to the lethargic, embattled economy of the United States.

The secretary's remarks were little noted at the time they were made, Sept. 8, in a statement to the House Ways and Means Committee, but they are as good an explanation of profits as given by any government official recently.

"How have profits been doing?" he asked rhetorically as he sought to dispel the notion that the President's new economic proposals were a business bonanza. And he answered:

"Measured as a percentage of Gross National Product, profits today are lower than at any time since 1938."

"During the past five years," he continued, "while wages and salaries have increased 37 per cent, from $394 billion to $541 billion—a jump of $147 billion, corporate profits have decreased over 10 per cent, from $84 billion to $75 billion—a drop of $9 billion."

Such figures should be disturbing to all Americans, he said. "It now takes many thousands of dollars of investment to sustain one job in American industry. Where will this money come from?"

Profits, he said, are a prerequisite to attracting needed capital. "If sufficient profits are not earned by a business, it can neither attract outside equity nor justify the retention of its own capital."

There is at the present time, he said, an acute shortage of risk capital throughout the world. "It is imperative that American businesses, owned by millions of Americans, generate profits sufficient to attract such capital."

He then offered the interpretation of the word: "Too often when we talk about profits, people think only in narrow terms—of the wealthy individual receiving a dividend on his stock. The fact is that millions of working Americans are capitalists in their own right."

How? "They own equity interest in pension plans, insurance companies, mutual funds, profit-sharing plans, and in thousands of individual firms. Thus over 100 million Americans directly or indirectly provide this capital—the lifeblood of our economy—and hence share in the benefits..."

Know How To Spot Food Danger Signals

By CARLTON SMITH
Do you know how to recognize "springers" and "flippers" when you encounter these danger signals? Clue: You meet them on your grocery shelves.

They're signs of spoilage in canned food. Knowing how to spot the symptoms of spoiled or contaminated canned foods can do a lot more than save you the cost of the food, when you find you have to dump it. It can stand between you and serious illness—even death.

You can't rely on your sense of smell and taste, no matter how keen, to detect tainted food. Botulism, the deadly poison that touched off the recent nationwide hunt for contaminated vichyssoise, can be present without affecting odor or taste.

When inspectors of the Food and Drug Administration launched their massive search for toxic cans, here's what they looked for to ferret out the potentially dangerous from among the thousands on the shelves:

The first danger signal you're likely to recognize—the most obvious—is something wrong with the shape of the can. It bulges.

A "soft swell," to the FDA inspectors, is a bulge that will give under pressure of the fingers. A "hard swell" won't give, even when considerable force is applied.

These are two of the symptoms that indicate the possibility of gas being generated inside the can, by fermentation—or something more deadly.

Another is the "springer." Press on the top of the can (or the bottom) and it goes in with a pop. Let up, and it pops out.

Similar to the springer is the "flipper." The difference is that when you press on the top, it pops in and the bottom pops out—or vice versa.

Any of these are indications of abnormal pressures within the can, and a warning that the contents may be spoiled or infected. Don't just put such a can back on the shelf; a less alert shopper may come to grief with it. Take it to the manager.

A "leaker" is a can that leaks, and not many shoppers would willingly add it to the

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market eked out a small advance Monday, unable to maintain strong early gains in stepped-up trading.

For most key issues, price fluctuations were small, but two glamour issues were sharply lower. Disney closed down 9½ at 99½, and Polaroid finished the day down 5½ at 96½.

Steels, utilities and airlines were strong. Rails were generally lower.

Analysts said the news background was generally favorable for a market advance, but brokers said investors still were somewhat reluctant to make commitments until further details are known about Phase 2 of the new Nixon economic program.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks tacked on 1.68, closing at 895.66. Earlier in the session, the blue-chip indicator was up about 6 points.

The New York Stock Exchange index of more than 1,300 common stocks advanced 14 to 54.80.

The Associated Press 60-stock average added 6, finishing the session at 326.1. Industrials were up 1, rails were ahead 3, and utilities gained 1.0.

Trading was moderately active, with 14.59 million shares changing hands on the Big Board, compared with Friday's turnover of 13.41 million shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index gained .03 to 25.57 as 4.28 million shares were traded. Volume was up from Friday's level of 4.03 million shares.

Occidental Petroleum, unchanged at 15 on 146,500 shares, topped the Big Board active list. Trading in the oil stock included a block of 90,000 shares at 15.

Biggest block of the session was 104,800 shares of Associated Dry Goods at 53, off ¾.

Politicians Already Seeking Truman Advice

By MARGARET RICHARDS
INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — Politicians already have begun their election-year march to the door of the old master, in search of Harry S. Truman's advice, or his blessing, or both.

First of the many who will make the Truman front walk a beaten path before the Democratic National Convention chooses a 1972 presidential nominee was party chieftain Lawrence O'Brien.

The Democratic national chairman spent nearly an hour with the 87-year-old former President Sept. 25, with Truman "talking up a storm," as O'Brien said that he had received his "marching orders."

The length of O'Brien's stay at the Truman home, unprecedented in recent years, was symbolic of Truman's continuing interest in political affairs.

O'Brien said the two "kicked off the 1972 Campaign," during a conversation centered on politics. Their talk ranged over the whole list of potential candidates, but Truman did not reveal his preference, O'Brien said.

Truman recently has kept a hands-off policy, at least publicly, in both national and party affairs. Some recall that he possibly the worst let-down he ever received at the hands of his party was when it ignored his advice in 1960 and nominated John F. Kennedy for President.

Later Kennedy visited Truman and received in person the blessing that Truman had long since bestowed publicly.

Most of the Democratic hopefuls of earlier years, including 1968 nominee Hubert Humphrey and his running mate, Edmund Muskie, have made one or several calls at the Truman home and it seemed certain the 1972 list would follow them, one by one, onto the Truman living room.

Even Republican Richard Nixon visited Truman, but their attention apparently centered principally on Nixon's musical talents. He played a piece on Margaret Truman's piano, the one that brought attention to the dire condition of the White House foundation after the floor sagged beneath it. It's now in the reception room of the Truman Library.

Truman used to tell reporters who questioned him about developments in national or foreign affairs that he would not comment because "only the President has the facts necessary for a decision."

But O'Brien, choosing his words carefully, quoted Truman as saying it is now "time for a change."

Special Grand Jury Called In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — In a move thought to be the first of its kind in the state, Chief Circuit Court Judge William Chamberlain has given permission for the calling of a special grand jury in Sangamon County to sit simultaneously with the county's regular grand jury.

The special grand jury, requested by State Atty. Gen. William Scott, will investigate possible collusion of contractors on state highway bidding.

Judge Chamberlain's action over the weekend followed an Illinois Supreme Court ruling last week that two grand juries can sit in the same county at the same time.

The special jury will be impaneled Nov. 2. The regular grand jury, impaneled Sept. 8, is investigating the Paul Powell case.

Wm. Lichtsinn Of Timewell Dies Saturday

MT. STERLING — William H. Lichtsinn, 82, of Timewell died at 6:35 p.m. Saturday at St. Mary's hospital in Quincy. He was a retired farmer.

He was born in Brown county June 24, 1889, son of Reike and Grace Adams Lichtsinn. He married the former Johanna Hippen on Jan. 11, 1910, in Brown county.

She survives with two sons, John of Coatsburg and Ernest of Timewell. There are five grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

The deceased attended Brown county schools and First Lutheran church.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Hufnagel Funeral Chapel with Rev. William Adams officiating. Burial will be at Beckum cemetery in Brown county.

Visitation will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday at the funeral chapel.

C. C. Smith Of Roodhouse Dies Sunday

ROODHOUSE — Carey (Kay) C. Smith, 78-year-old retired Roodhouse farmer, died suddenly at his home here at 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

Mr. Smith was born at Roodhouse Dec. 2, 1892, son of John W. and Elizabeth J. Fesler Smith. He was a member of the Barrow Baptist church.

He was married to Ola B. Clark 57 years ago. His wife survives with these children: Mrs. Melvin (Wanda) Taylor, Mrs. O. C. (Wilma) Hulien, both of Springfield; Mrs. Homer (Bonnie) Keltner, Jacksonville; and one son, Noel D. Smith of Roodhouse. There are seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

One brother and three sisters survive: Don Smith of Roodhouse; Mrs. Ada Day, Jacksonville; Mrs. Bonnie Baldwin, living in California; and Mrs. Flora Kanowski, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Three brothers, a half-brother and one sister preceded Mr. Smith in death.

The remains are at the Mackey Funeral Home here. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Mackey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Williams-Edwards cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 4 to 7 p.m. and the family will meet friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday.

TUG FINDS MISSING 18-FOOT MOTORBOAT
CLEVELAND, Ohio. (AP) — The Coast Guard said Monday an 18-foot motorboat that had been missing since Saturday morning on Lake Michigan was found by a tug 22 miles south-east of Milwaukee.

The Coast Guard said the two men aboard the boat were reported in good condition. The disabled boat was taken in tow by the tug Louren Castle.

The boat operated by Jack Nyholm of Waukegan, Ill., was en route from Benton Harbor, Mich., to Waukegan when it dropped out of sight Saturday, according to a spokesman for the 9th District Coast Guard headquarters here. The second man aboard was identified only as Harvey Mitchell.

DEDICATION FOR SNICARTE BAPTIST CHURCH OCT. 10

BATH — Members of the Hopewell Baptist church, Snicarte, are planning formal dedication services for their new church building on Sunday, October 10.

The program will begin at 2 p.m. with various reports, special music, and remarks from former pastors and visiting ministers.

A basket supper is planned for 5:30 p.m. Iced tea and coffee will be furnished.

The formal dedication services will be at 7:30 p.m. led by Pastor Verne Gerdes. Former pastor, Rev. William J. Boston of Jacksonville, will deliver the Dedication Sermon.

We invite you to come and share with us in this dedication; also, to come and worship with us each Lord's Day.

Boy 10 Killed Riding Bicycle On Highway

PALMYRA — A ten-year-old boy was killed about 7:15 p.m. Sunday when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car on Route 111 near Palmyra in Macoupin county.

The youth was identified by Macoupin County Coroner Conrad Dawson as Bruce Lynn McGarvey, ten-year-old son of Lela McGarvey of Palmyra. Coroner Dawson said McGarvey's bicycle was struck from behind by a car driven by 19-year-old Paulette Revel of Modesto.

Mrs. Revel told authorities she was blinded by the lights from an on-coming car and she did not see the bike. Coroner Dawson said there were no reflectors or lights on the bike.

Coroner Dawson will hold an inquest.

The child is survived by his mother, Lela McGarvey, and grandmother, Nellie McGarvey. He was born Feb. 11, 1961, at Alton.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Stults Funeral Home in Palmyra with interment at Oakhill cemetery here.

State Bookkeeping Changes Advised

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A bipartisan study group recommended Monday 19 major changes in the way the State of Illinois keeps track of its money.

The suggestions came in a report of the citizens advisory committee on implementation of the comptroller's office under the 1970 Illinois Constitution.

Under the new state charter, Illinois will no longer have an auditor of public accounts and will join 10 other states in giving to its chief fiscal officer the title of comptroller. The first occupant of the office will be elected in November 1972.

The committee, whose chairman was Elbert S. Smith, Decatur attorney and former auditor of public accounts, proposed a total of 125 changes in state laws to help create the comptroller's office plus 200 name changes to bring existing statutes that refer to the chief fiscal post up to date.

Among major changes proposed were:

—A shortening of the "lapse period," during which bills from the previous year are honored, from three months to one.

—Doubling the bond of the comptroller from the $500,000 presently required of the state auditor of $1 million. The report said some sources consulted by the committee recommended a bond of $2.5 million for the state's No. 1 money-handling job.

New Quincy Trio Concert To Open Activities At Mae

Tonight's concert by the New Quincy Trio will open six days of activities on the MacMurray college campus, which have been scheduled as part of the school's 125th anniversary celebration.

The 8 p.m. concert, to be held in Orr Auditorium in the Fine Arts building, will include traditional and contemporary selections by the newly organized string ensemble. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Other events of special interest during the week-long campus program are Thursday evening's 15th Arts Convocation and the 125th Anniversary Service on Sunday morning.

John Herndon, Former Resident Dies In West

John Herndon, who operated a taxi business here for many years before moving to California about 25 years ago, died Sept. 24 at Riverside following an extended illness. He was preceded in death by his wife, the former Hallie Withee, in 1965.

Only survivors are sisters and brothers, living in Kentucky.

Funeral services and interment were in California.

PLEADS GUILTY. ASKS PROBATION

Judge John B. Wright Monday afternoon accepted a plea of guilty from John C. McBride Sr., 61, of 1248 South East on a charge of contributing to the sexual delinquency of a minor.

McBride also asked for probation on the offense and his case was continued to Oct. 13 for a probation hearing and possible sentencing.

The incident took place on Aug. 31, according to the complaint filed in the state's attorney's office.

CCC Bin Rentals Underway — Farmers, farmer groups, and warehouse men needing grain storage facilities can apply at the county ASCS office for use of Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) bins says Nimrod Funk, chairman of the Scott county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Eligible producers who participated in the set-aside program may obtain farm-stored price support loans for their corn and grain sorghums stored in rented CCC bins. Also, soybean producers are eligible for farm-stored price support loans stored in CCC bins.

Space to store about 97,000 bushels is available CCC bin site. The cost for bin rental is one cent a bushel per month, or fraction of a month based on the rated capacity of the bin. Most CCC bins have 3,250 bushel rated capacity.

Use of aeration equipment is recommended and is available for a slight additional charge, but no drying facilities are permitted on the bin site.

Grain stored in the rented bins is entirely the responsibility of the farmer, group of farmers, or warehouse men who rent the bin. All inquiries and requests about bin rentals should be made at the County ASCS office.

CWF To Meet — The CWF Circles of the First Christian church have scheduled their general meeting Wednesday, October 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the Illinois Christian Home in Jacksonville.

Those planning to attend are asked to meet at the church at 6 p.m. The Elizabeth Circle will serve refreshments with Mrs. Hal McLaughlin, Mrs. Pete Lackey and Mrs. Clint King in charge.

Legion To Meet — The regular meeting of Julian Wells Post No. 442 of the American Legion is scheduled for Wednesday evening, Oct. 6 at 7 p.m.

A fish and chicken supper will precede the meeting.

PLAQUE LAYING CEREMONY — To celebrate 150 years of its existence, Centenary United Methodist Church held a plaque laying ceremony Sunday at the corner of East State and Brown Streets. The site is the spot where James Jordan built a log cabin and held the first worship services of the church. The church was the first Methodist station in Illinois. Assisting at the plaque laying pictured above, were (l to r) Rev. Harry R. Evans, associate pastor of the church, Philip R. Richardson, senior pastor, Jacksonville Mayor Dan Lohey, Father Paul Skelton of the Church of Our Saviour and Dr. John Collins, Jacksonville United Methodist superintendent. Holding the plaque is Harold Sorrell, church lay leader.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Childers of Versailles became parents of a daughter at 3:34 p.m. Sunday at Passavant hospital.

Calhoun Girl Killed In Crash Near Brussels

A teenage Calhoun county girl was killed and three other young people injured Sunday in a two-car accident near Brussels.

Pronounced dead-on-arrival at St. John's Mercy hospital in St. Louis was 16-year-old Wilma D. Martin of Golden Eagle.

Miss Martin was one of two passengers in a car driven by her 19-year-old brother, James Martin. This car collided with an auto driven by 19-year-old Gregory Halemeyer of Golden Eagle. Both drivers received apparently minor injuries. They were both treated and later released at an Alton hospital.

The other passenger in Martin's car, ten-year-old Bruce Martin, also of Golden Eagle, was admitted to St. John's Mercy hospital with multiple injuries. His condition was listed as "fair" Monday night.

Police say the collision occurred as James Martin attempted to make a turn off Ridge Road near Brussels, and he collided with the Halemeyer auto.

Archie Gobel Of Meredosia Dies Suddenly

MEREDOSIA — Archie Leonard Gobel, 63, was found dead at his home here Monday morning. His wife, Violet Phillips Gobel, died two weeks ago following an extended illness.

Mr. Gobel was born at Naples Jan. 19, 1909, son of John and Carrie Carnes Gobel. He married Violet Phillips Feb. 24, 1928.

These children survive: Narvella Tubbes, Mickey Dickman and Betty Six, all of Meredosia, and Mary Hutton of Bluffs. A son, Don, preceded in death.

Two brothers, Eldon of Pekin and George of Quincy, survive. Two brothers preceded in death. The remains are at the Schaefer Funeral Home here. Arrangements are pending.

THEFT REPORTED

City police were notified at 7:15 a.m. Sunday by Spencer's 66 Station, corner of South Main and Morton, that a sum of money had been removed sometime overnight. Investigating authorities said there was no sign of forced entry to the building. The investigation is continuing.

Seeks $55,000 In Dram Shop Case Filed

A Jacksonville man, Nicholas Gioscio, through his attorney, filed a case in Morgan county circuit court Monday in which he seeks $55,000 damages from three defendants.

Gioscio seeks $20,000 from Joseph John Pierz of Winchester; $20,000 from Harold Twyford, doing business as Club Herald; and $15,000 from Ed Bahan, doing business as Bahan's Tavern.

The suit charges that Joseph John Pierz struck a "karate blow to the throat" of Mr. Gioscio on October 6, 1970 at Club Herald. Twyford and Bahan are named in the suit under provisions of the dram shop act.

The suit also contends that the injuries sustained by Gioscio in the altercation in question were "unprovoked" by the plaintiff. The suit seeks a jury trial.

Three Injured On County Road Sunday Noon

Three persons were hospitalized here with injuries suffered about 12:05 p.m. Sunday in a two-car accident on a county road, a short distance northeast of the Jacksonville city limits.

The driver of one of the cars, 26-year-old Vicky Sanders of 534 Hardin, and two passengers, Mrs. Sanders' two-year-old daughter Kimberly and 43-year-old Alberta Bauser of route one, Jacksonville, were released from Passavant hospital Monday after an overnight stay.

Driver of the other car, 24-year-old Alfred Vaniter of route three, was not injured.

State police said Vaniter was southbound when his car crossed into the opposite lane and collided head-on with the northbound Sanders car. Vaniter explained he had started to light a cigarette when the match flared up in his face and temporarily blinded him.

Vaniter was ticketed for driving in the wrong lane of traffic.

Dorothy Harvey Dies Monday

Mrs. Dorothy G. Harvey of 800 Hoagland Blvd. died at 8:30 p.m. Monday at Passavant Memorial Area Hospital.

The body was taken to the Gillham Buchanan Funeral Home where further arrangements are pending.

Property Tax Relief Studied By House Leader

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The chairman of the Illinois House Revenue Committee said Monday he is looking into the possibility of a bill to provide a flat property tax exemption of $10,000 to $20,000 annually for both individuals and corporations.

Rep. Paul J. Randolph, R-Chicago, distributed copies of a letter to Atty. Gen. William J. Scott asking about the constitutionality of such a bill if it were to be approved by the General Assembly.

Randolph said he also sent a letter to Revenue director George Mahan asking how it would affect the state's fiscal posture.

Actually, the $20,000 exemption plan has been brewing ever since the Illinois Supreme Court reinstated the tax this spring. The court held that abolition of the tax in a 1970 referendum was unconstitutional.

Rep. Edward Madigan, R-Lincoln, is believed to be drawing up a proposal which would grant some type of tax break.

Randolph said he hopes "that we can get together on a committee bill." This would mean a compromise measure hammered out by all committee members.

"Right now, I'm waiting for the answer to these questions," he said. "Maybe it won't take that long or maybe we'll have to work on it for a while."

William Kitner, Of City Dies

William Kitner, 65, of 526 South Diamond street, died Monday afternoon at Passavant hospital.

He was born October 20, 1905 in Woodson, son of Fred and Margaret Fitzsimmons Kitner. He married Margaret C. Cockin and she survives.

Two sons, Kerry W. and Kirby L. Kitner, both of Jacksonville; survive.

These sisters and a brother survive, Mrs. Gordon (Margaret) May of Jacksonville; and Mrs. Mary Whitmeire of Tallahassee, Florida; and Harry Kitner, also of Jacksonville.

A brother and sister preceded him in death.

Mr. Kitner was employed by the Eli Bridge Company for thirty-three years. He retired January 8, 1971. He was a member of Central Christian church and a member of Christian Men's Fellowship of the church. The remains are at the Williamson Funeral Home where arrangements are pending.

CARS COLLIDE ON EAST MORTON

City police officers investigated a two-car collision in the 400 block of East Morton Ave. Monday about 2 p.m.

Officers reported a car driven by Lloyd A. Hankins, 48, of 1808 S. Main St., was changing lanes and collided with an auto operated by Paul A. Kramp, 17, of R.R. 1 Alexander.

Neither driver was ticketed.

2-HOUR SERVICE CARL CLEANERS Monday thru Saturday

Report Heavy Loss In Winchester Fire

WINCHESTER — Fire of undetermined origin caused damage estimated at "several thousand dollars" Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Lucille F. Waller, 200 North Walnut.

Winchester Volunteer Firemen were summoned to the blaze about 6:40 p.m. Sunday and remained at the scene until about 8:30 before the fire was considered extinguished.

The one-story wood construction home was built about five years ago. The blaze is believed to have started in the kitchen but a complete inspection of the premises was scheduled later.

Mrs. Waller left the house about 3 p.m. and the blaze was discovered about 6:40 p.m.

Heavy damage resulted to both the structure and the entire contents of the home.

Fire officials said damage would amount to about 75 percent of the value of both contents and structure.

'Ogilvie No Friend Of Labor,' Says Union

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois State AFL-CIO expressed dissatisfaction Monday with lack of a public employee collective bargaining laws by approving removal of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's picture from the labor convention program.

Earlier the convention president hinted that public employee unionists may be forced to accept compulsory binding arbitration if a public employee bargaining bill is adopted.

Although the Republican governor was criticized "as no friend of labor," another Illinois Republican leader, Sen. Charles H. Percy was applauded after asking labor to hike productivity.

Ogilvie came under fire when delegate Neal A. Bratcher, a business agent of a Chicago public employee union, complained about Ogilvie's picture.

Bratcher said promises were made in the 1970 convention that advertising space would not be granted to public officials who opposed labor and charged that the governor is "no friend of labor and has never been."

Bratcher's resolution that the programs be collected and not used was amended to require each delegate to tear out the Ogilvie picture. It passed by a voice vote.

The governor was not available for comment, but one of his aides said, "I don't think we have ever been in the illusion that organized labor is the bulk of Ogilvie's support."

A public employee collective bargaining bill is stalled in the Illinois Senate. It received only 17 of the 30 votes needed in the Senate and was held over for the October session.

President Stanley L. Johnson said labor should "not minimize the hue and cry about the stoppage of public services," especially those affecting children.

But he insisted public employees "are to be first class citizens, even as you and I."

The issue is especially sensitive to the current four-day convention of more than 2,000 labor union delegates because of school strike issues only recently settled or still hanging.

Moreover, convention officials said persons attending the convention include teachers who served short sentences for contempt of court. Militancy of some teachers was reported heightened because Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie refused executive clemency to six teachers from Kankakee, one from Peoria and one from Chicago, and referred them back to the courts which sentenced them in connection with collective bargaining disputes.

Johnson said public employees "dealing with kids are not supposed to have redress" but later said if there is no orderly process through some kind of collective bargaining machinery for public employees "everybody is going to be in contempt of court."

In his formal speech to the delegates, in advocating such machinery, Johnson dropped the hint labor may have to accept for its public employee bargaining bill the compulsory arbitration labor would not accept for the private sector.

Specifically he called attention to an executive committee report to the convention discussing the failure to pass the bill.

The report said in part: "We may have to give sober thought to what we normally reject in the private sector. Compulsory binding arbitration, binding on both parties in the event of an impasse, to avoid interruption of public services, may have to be studied in depth. Prohibiting strikes, mandatory injunctions, wholesale discharges, punitive damages all may sound good to the nineteenth century minds but such items have not prevented turmoil in other states. We want orderly processes to prevail in Illinois."

John E. Desmond, a delegate of the Chicago Teachers Union and an executive committee vice president, said Chicago teachers will ask the convention to support a request to the legislature for $22.6 million in state aid he said is needed to keep the Chicago schools from closing for 12 days in December.

Johnson credited two Republican senators—Sen. Edward McBroom of Kankakee, and Sen. G. William Horsley, of Springfield—with making possible passage of increased workmen compensation in the Illinois Senate.

But Johnson said the close Senate passage vote made it doubtful the Senate would override the amendatory veto of parts of the bill by Ogilvie. A majority vote in each house could approve the changes Ogilvie suggested, but a three-fifths vote in each house is needed to overturn his recommendations and to restore the bill to its state as passed.

While crediting "friends of labor," Johnson attacked the legislature in general, "including our friends," for enactment of a 45 per cent legislative salary increase as compared to their approval of a 3 per cent boost for public employees. Johnson said labor supported the legislative pay increases.

"But it was a disgrace on them not to recommend at least a 10 per cent raise for state employees," Johnson said. He noted the 3 per cent increase was frozen.
